DEADLOCK IS BROKEN IN PARIS

...Main Table To Be Round, 2 On Sides Rectangular

Paris (AP) — With a long procedural deadlock broken, the Vietnam peace talks will resume Saturday, two days before President Johnson leaves office.

The United States and North Vietnam announced Thursday the breakthrough on the debate over the conference table, eight months after they first met in Paris to begin talks on ways to get peace negotiations going.

In that time, about 8,000 Americans have been killed in South Vietnam.

Neither Side Wins

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, who retires as head of the U.S. delegation Sunday, said the solution was a victory for neither side — the United States and South Vietnam on one side and North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front on the other.

The delegatons will sit down at an unmarked round table, as North Vietnam demanded. But at each side will be a rectangular table for secretaries, satisfying South Vietnam's demands for the appearance of a two-sided conference.

"It was not a compromise," Harriman declared, "But just a decision that all could agree to, satisfactory to all the participants of the conference."

Harriman expressed hope the conference could move quickly to talks on the substance of peace, possibly by the time Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge arrives to succeed him within 10 days.

'We Must Be Firm'

Similar sentiments were expressed in Washington, but President Johnson emphasized, "We must be clear and firm pursuing with our allies the limited but vital objectives we seek in Southeast Asia."

President-elect Nixon pledged in Key Biscayne, Fla., that his administration would pursue the peace talks "with energy and purpose."

In Saigon, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker predicted in a speech to the American Chamber of Commerce that the Paris negotiations will be "long, tough, complex and arduous."

Won't Recognize NLF

Foreign Minister Tran Chanh Thanh of South Vietnam told reporters in Saigon the talks would be two-sided and would not give recognition to the NLF.

It was South Vietnam's determination to resist any sort of recognition of the NLF that caused the hangup over a conference table. South Vietnam wanted the table divided.

Thanh saw hard fighting ahead, despite the agreement, saying: "The Communists have always wanted to talk while fighting and fight while talking."

Borne Out

His belief was borne out by a broadcast from Hanoi Radio, the official voice of North Vietnam. "We must continue fighting ever more strenuously to assure that we get our peace," the broadcast said.

Nguyen Thanh Le, the North Vietnamese delegation spokesman, took issue with Thanh's assessment that the talks would be two-sided. Le told a news conference the undivided round table, first suggested by North Vietnam Dec. 12, showed that the conference "will have four participants with equal status."

The agreement worked out by the deputy leaders of the U.S. and North Vietnamese delegations, Cyrus R. Vance and Col. Ha Van Lau, allows each side to stick to its own interpretation of whether the conference is two-sided or four-sided.

Change Is Element

Harriman said the forthcoming change of administrations in Washington was one of the elements leading to the breakthrough.

"The new administration can now take over with this obstacle out of the way," he added. "Otherwise there might have been considerable delay. I felt it was necessary to get agreement before the change of administrations."

Under the agreed plan, the allied side will speak first. The first speaker will be South Vietnam's deputy leader Nguyen Xuan Phong. He will be followed by Vance.

Reds Follow

They will be followed by the North Vietnamese and NLF, probably Col. Lau and Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, deputy leaders of their delegations.

The conference will meet at the International Conference Center, the former Hotel Majestic. Delegates of the two sides will enter the room from opposite doors.

Vance and Lau had met periodically since Johnson's bombing halt of North Vietnam Nov. 1 to work out arrangements for a four-way peace conference. They quickly deadlocked over the status of the NLF delegation.

Nixon Backed Peace Talks Compromise

© New York Times Service

Washington — The incoming Nixon administration intervened directly with the South Vietnamese government to urge a procedural compromise in the talks on Vietnam, paving the way for early discussion of substantive issues in Paris.

Through Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker in Saigon and Secretary of state-designate William P. Rogers in Washington, President-elect Nixon informed the Saigon regime last weekend that he joined President Johnson in backing the compromise formula and appealed for Saigon's support.

Despite Nixon's cooperation with the Johnson administration in working to break the procedural deadlock, there was no indication that the Nixon camp has yet worked out its long-term negotiating strategy.

Soviets Achieve Space Transfer

Moscow (AP) — The Soviet Union took a stride toward assembly of earth-orbiting science stations with the world's first linkup of two manned spaceships Thursday and the first transfer of cosmonauts from one to the other.

The news agency Tass declared that the multiple maneuver had made feasible the exchange of space crews on long operations, and rescue of spacemen from doomed ships.

The Russian feat won acclaim from space officials in the West, but U.S. experts claimed the Soviet Union still has a long gap to close to beat the Americans to a moon landing.

4 Hours, 35 Minutes

After the manned space ships Soyuz 4 and Soyuz 5 had performed their docking and transfer maneuvers, they separated and continued in orbit. They were together 4 hours and 35 minutes.

In Britain, Sir Bernard Lovell, director of the Jodrell Bank Observatory, called the operations "a major event in the Russian intention to create an earth orbital space platform."

The mission began Tuesday with the launching of Vladimir Shatalov into space aboard Soyuz 4. He was followed the next day by Soyuz 5 with Boris Volynov, Yevgeny Khrunov and Alexei Yeliseyev aboard.

Ground Helps

The two ships were brought near each other by ground controllers Thursday. Then Shatalov took over manual operation to bring them together nose-to-nose, the Soviets said.

The docking and later transfer of Khrunov and Yeliseyev were displayed on Soviet television.

"Our condition is excellent," the cosmonauts said frequently.

"Don't be in a hurry," a ground controller cautioned as Khrunov and Yeliseyev donned space suits for the walk. Transfer of the two men took an hour from the time the hatch on Soyuz 5 opened until the second space traveler closed the hatch behind him on Soyuz 4.

Apollo 9 Next Month

American astronauts performed docking and separation of manned with unmanned spaceships in December 1965. Their first docking of two manned craft is scheduled for next month during the Apollo 9 mission.

Although both American and Soviet spacemen have walked in space, Thursday's feat was the first transfer of men from one orbiting craft to another.

A Tass "science observer" wrote that the linkup provided opportunity for "a large round of experiments and research, as well as comfortable conditions for work and rest."

He said astronomers, biologists and engineers eagerly await the opportunity to do research in orbital stations. The absence of atmosphere, proximity to the sun and "literally limitless conditions of vacuum" are special attractions of a space laboratory, he said.

Prison Workers Attacking 'Plate' Problem

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The mismatches in 1969 motor vehicle license plates supplied to county treasurers will be corrected as quickly as possible by Prison Industries employes, Supt. Charles L. Wolff said Thursday.

A number of counties — including populous Douglas, Sarpy and Lancaster — have reported cases running into the hundreds where the license plates have not matched the serial numbers on the package.

Wolff said three Penal Complex employes began checking Douglas County plates in the treasurer's office at Omaha Thursday and eight will be working there Friday.

He said another crew is being assigned to begin a plate-by-plate check of the Sarpy County supply.

Meanwhile, Wolff said a preliminary telephone check with other county treasurers across the state indicate that "probably half have no problems or very minor ones."

Wolff said Prison Industries employes will go to the counties where further checking is indicated, and will sort out and correct mismatched plates and envelopes "at no expense" to the counties or Department of Motor Vehicles.

The superintendent said Prison Industries at the Nebraska Penal Complex followed the same procedures in the manufacture of 1969 plates as was followed for the 1966 (Centennial) plates.

"A paid inspector was supposed to do the job of final checking of the packaging of the plates, but he did not do it properly," Wolff said.

The superintendent said there are always some inmate workers who delight in deliberately sabotaging plate manufacturing, but if the final inspector "had done his job, these instances of mispackaging of plates couldn't have happened."

Wolff said the immediate concern is to straighten out any mismatched plates now in the hands of the county treasurers, and appropriate action within the Penal Complex would follow.

Wolff said a more detailed survey of the counties should be available Friday, but indications are it may not be as severe or widespread a problem as suggested by first reports.

State Motor Vehicles Director Emmett J. Dennis Jr. said Prison Industries "got right on the problem" as soon as reports of mismatched plates were relayed.

Dennis said there appears to be "no great problem" in Douglas County, but it is being checked out.

County Working On Corrections

Lancaster County is attempting to correct mismatches of 1969 license plates before they are issued to avoid second trips for motorists.

According to Larry Kelley of the Lancaster County motor vehicle department, several hundred mismatched plates have been discovered during processing.

He said in one particular box of 50 plates, there were 30 mismatches.

Many plates do not match numbers on the envelopes which are normally routinely copied onto the motor vehicle registration as plates are issued. Other sets are mismatched in that there may be three plates of one number and only one of another.

Kelley said that the distribution of plates has been slowed considerably because of the unusual number of mismatches necessitating checking each envelope of plates before the plates are issued.

More than 14,000 Lancaster County plates have been issued in the first 11 days of distribution, Kelley said.

HUGE POTHOLE . . . on No. 48th near R.

Pothole Problem Worse This Year

Thawing ice from the heavy snowfall has led to the formation of more potholes in Lincoln streets this year, according to Deputy City Engineer Wilmer Hunt.

"There are more potholes this year than there have been in the last three years," Hunt said.

Lee Boehmer, superintendent of paving repair and storm sewers, said his crews are already patching up streets hard hit by the potholes.

"The crews have had to fix up some streets twice within a week," Boehmer said.

Creates Separation

Hunt explained that potholes are formed when water seeps through the asphalt surface, creating a separation between surface and the base.

He said traffic causes the surface to break into pieces.

Hunt pointed out that potholes occur on streets that have not been resurfaced in ten years or more.

"We have not had any problems on any newly resurfaced street."

Boehmer said his crews have been working this week on Normal Blvd. from A to South Sts., A St. from 48th to 33rd Sts., and 56th St. from Huntington to Holdrege.

Freezing, Thawing

He said potholes will continue to occur as long as the weather produces freezing and subsequent thawing temperatures.

Hunt said he could not estimate the cost of repairing the streets.

"It will be higher than what it was the last three years," Hunt said.

The deputy city engineer said the base beneath the surface on streets has not been damaged by the weather.

Mahoney To Sponsor Homestead Exemption

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha has decided to switch signals and sponsor a homestead tax exemption bill in the 1969 Legislature, limited to the low-income elderly.

"It seems that this Legislature is going to pass some sort of homestead exemption bill," Mahoney said Thursday, "so I've decided to be sure to protect the people most in need."

Mahoney's bill will propose a 50% tax exemption on the actual value of homesteads owned by persons 65 and over who have annual incomes of $3,500 or less.

Chief Sponsor

Originally, Mahoney — chief sponsor of the 1967 legislation which provided the electorate with an opportunity to express itself on a homestead exemption — had decided to seek a legislative study on the matter and withhold action until at least 1971.

Mahoney's proposed constitutional amendment permitting the Legislature to enact a partial exemption bill was approved by the voters last November.

"So many bills are being proposed at this session to enact an exemption now that it appears we're going to have one," the Omaha senator noted.

To Help Needy

Mahoney said he would not like to see a flat exemption provided for all homesteads, since he offered the amendment only to help those in need.

"I especially want to help World War I veterans on low income," he said.

Three homestead exemption bills, all with broader application, have already been introduced in the Legislature.

For Older Persons

Sen. Lester Harsh of McCook has proposed an exemption for persons 62 or older amounting to $2,000, or 50% of assessed value, whichever is less.

Sen. Henry Pedersen Jr., of Omaha proposed exemptions for persons 62 or older, and recipients of state relief assistance, amounting to $2,000 on the actual value of homesteads worth more than $10,000 and 20% of the value of homes worth less than $10,000.

The broadest bill came from Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, who proposed a $1,500 exemption on the appraised value of all homesteads in the state.

Gov. Norbert Tiemann has previously announced his support for a broad exemption bill at this session.

Linking Price Stability, Prosperity Biggest Job

. . . LAST ECONOMIC REPORT MADE BY LBJ

World News

Washington (AP) — President Johnson said Thursday the task of combining national prosperity with price stability "is the biggest remaining over-all economic challenge facing the nation."

He offered this judgment in submitting to Congress his final Economic Report — a document bristling with pride over advances during his administration but also pointing to problems facing his successor.

Johnson described other major unsolved economic problems in these terms:

"We must more fully secure the foundations of the world monetary system and of our own balance of payments.

Urgent Needs

"We must fulfill our many urgent public needs such as good education, efficient transportation, clean air and pure water. Quality as well as quantity is the key to a better life.

"We must share more equitably the fruits of prosperity among all our citizens. A nation as prosperous as ours can afford to open the doors of opportunity to all. Indeed, it cannot afford to leave any citizen in poverty."

Johnson said that during his five years in the White House, the nation's total output of goods and services has increased by more than $190 billion expressed in stable dollars.

"The average income of Americans (after taxes and after correction for price rises) increased by $535 — more than one-fifth and more than in the previous 13 years combined," he said.

1968 Big Year

The economy had an exceptionally big year in 1968, with a $71 billion rise in the gross national product (GNP) to $861 billion, he said.

But he added ruefully that "in some ways, 1968 was too big a year" because of a discomfiting wage-price spiral.

For that reason, he explained, he sought to offer in his final budget Wednesday "a tight and prudent program for fiscal 1970" with a $3.4 billion surplus and a recommendation for a year's extension of the 10% income surtax.

This should hold the GNP rise to about $60 billion in 1969 and dampen the increase in consumer spending, he said.

Need To Rein In

"The over-all gains will not and should not be as large as those in 1968, but they will still make for a highly prosperous year," he declared.

The President said the goal of combining high employment with stable prices "has eluded every industrial country for generations."

The U.S. cannot achieve it in a single year, he said, but should be able to do so over a period of years with an appropriate mix of policies.

The President said he was convinced that some form of direct cash assistance will be needed before the problem of poverty can be solved finally.

But he turned a decision on this over to President-elect Nixon, pointing out that the Commission on Economic Maintenance which he named will report at the end of this year.

The annual report of the Council of Economic Advisers, which accompanied the President's report, said three types of income support programs were receiving strong consideration.

They are children's allowances, a guaranteed work program, and the negative income tax.

The council listed advantages and drawbacks for all three, but did not choose between them.

AVOID HIGH PROPERTY TAXES

After getting "sick and tired" of paying New Jersey's soaring property taxes, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ball sold their ranch home and spent the past year aboard a 37-foot cruiser. Ball, 40, said the only way he could find to get rid of the property tax that increased steadily during the 17 years on the ranch was "to get rid of the property."

Minimum Wage Of $2 Favored

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said Thursday he believes all American workers should receive a minimum wage of at least $2 per hour.

Wirtz made this recommendation in his final annual report to Congress as required by the Fair Labor Standards Act.

And, in a farewell news conference, the outgoing secretary said:

"Its coverage should be extended to every job within the reach of federal authority and provisions should be made for encouraging full supplementary coverage, at the same level, through state legislation.

"Nobody who works should be left out."

The present minimum wage is $1.60 per hour.

Wirtz urged "that every person who works in this country receives at least enough for his labor to maintain himself and his family."

The Secretary proposed that a minimum of $2 an hour to be effective in 1971 for all jobs covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act prior to 1966, with an intermediate step of $1.80 an hour starting in 1970.

Intervening

For all other jobs, the secretary said, including those on farms, the $2 minimum would be effective by 1975, with intermediate steps taken during the intervening period.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, endorsed Wirtz' proposal.

Outsiders Confirm JFK Death Finding

Washington (UPI) — The only outsiders to view top secret autopsy photographs have confirmed the Warren Commission findings that President John F. Kennedy was killed by two bullets fired from above and behind him, the Justice Department disclosed Thursday.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, with the approval of the Kennedy family, released the report of a four-man panel of doctors he appointed to study the photographs, X-rays and clothing sealed in the U.S. Archives in 1966. It contains the first full inventory and examination of the autopsy material from the body of the assassinated president.

Because of the path of the two bullets, the Warren Commission concluded in a much-disputed decision that Kennedy was killed by one man, Lee Harvey Oswald, Nov. 22, 1963, in Dallas.

So far as is known, no one but the naval doctors who performed the autopsy and the naval medical personnel at Bethesda Hospital who took the photographs —and some members of the Warren Commission — had ever examined this material. At the request of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, the president's widow, the material was ordered sealed in the archives at least until 1971.

"Examination of the clothing and of the photographs and X-rays taken at autopsy revealed that President Kennedy was struck by two bullets fired from above and behind him, one of which traversed the base of the neck and on the right side without striking bone and the other of which entered the skull from behind and exploded its right side," the physicians said in their report.

The report was released by the attorney general along with a statement from Burke Marshall, the former assistant attorney general in the Kennedy administration who has acted for the Kennedy family since October, 1966, on all matters concerning autopsy material.

Marshall said, "I concluded that the report simply confirmed the autopsy report and saw no reason to concern members of the Kennedy family and did not do so."

Marshall visited Clark early Thursday. In his statement, he said he saw no reason to object to release of the report.

Clark released the report to Judge Charles Halleck of the District of Columbia General Sessions Court in reply to his order for Director James B. Rhoads of the National Archives to appear Friday to explain why the court should not cooperate with New Orleans Dist. Atty. James Garrison's investigation of an alleged conspiracy in the assassination.

The Justice Department asked the court to refuse to compel Dr. Rhoads to attend the conspiracy trial of Clay Shaw, a New Orleans businessman Garrison has accused of masterminding an alleged assassination plot.

The department said the examination of the secret material was made Feb. 26 and 27, 1968, and the 16-page medical report written in April 1968.

The four doctors named by Clark to make the investigation were William H. Carnes, professor of pathology, University of Utah; Russell S. Fisher, professor for forensic pathology, University of Maryland, and chief medical examiner of Maryland; Russell H. Morgan, professor of radiology, Johns Hopkins University; and Alan R. Moritz, professor of pathology, Case Western Reserve University.

U.S. Officials Expect Enemy To Unleash Major Offensive

Saigon (AP) — Some senior U.S. officials believe the enemy must unleash a major offensive in Vietnam fairly soon to avoid a steadily deteriorating position.

This view prevails despite the fact that the United States and North Vietnam announced Thursday in Paris agreement to resume the long stalled peace talks Saturday.

"They (the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese) have to throw a big punch," a senior American officer with several years in Vietnam said. "How else are they going to convince the world, and especially Paris and Washington, that they are the ones with the initiative? As fast as we are moving now, their bargaining position withers away a little more every day."

Military action gradually picked up last week. Casualty figures that showed American battle deaths last week rose to 151 from 101 the week before.

Not Clear

For reasons U.S. advisers say are not fully clear, government troops are moving easily into many areas lost to the enemy almost a year ago in the Tet offensive.

Some U.S. evaluations are that enemy divisions in key parts of the country are in no shape to try another spectacular.

In spite of the talk of a possible new offensive, a spokesman quoted Premier Tran Van Huong of South Vietnam as saying the United States could begin now a gradual withdrawal of about 10,000 men a month without weakening the allied ability to carry on the war. There are now 532,000 American servicemen in South Vietnam.

A spokesman for Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, said there was as of now "no known proposal of any kind to move troops out." Abrams opposes any troop reduction before mid-July at the earliest.

Tightening

On the battle fronts, contact was light and scattered on Batangan Peninsula, 340 miles north of Saigon, where 8,200 U.S. and South Vietnamese troops are slowly tightening a cordon around enemy forces in that coastal stronghold.

The U.S. Command said U.S. Marines fired on North Vietnamese troops in the demilitarized zone that divides North and South Vietnam after the enemy shot at a U.S. spotter plane Thursday.

The plane was not hit but the artillery fire touched off a large secondary explosion and destroyed three bunkers, a spokesman said.

Minor shellings and minor actions were reported throughout the rest of the country Thursday and early Friday, the spokesman said.

Last Week

The U.S. Command said that in addition to the 151 killed last week, another 1,398 Americans were wounded, 548 badly enough to be hospitalized.

Government spokesmen said 183 South Vietnamese were killed and 822 wounded compared to 150 killed and 602 wounded the week before.

Enemy losses were given as 2,102 killed compared with 2,056 the previous week.

Sit-In Abandoned After Prexy Dies

By United Press International

Negro militants abandoned an eight-day occupation of the Swarthmore College admissions office Thursday five hours after the school's president died of a heart attack in his office.

About 30 black students ended a sit-in in the University of Pittsburgh's computer center after officials promised to speed action on their demands for two Negro holidays and an institute for black studies.

Fire destroyed the student union building at Wilberforce (Ohio) University, a predominantly Negro school where a student boycott has protested disciplinary procedures.

Smith Was 52

Dr. Courtney Smith, 52, Swarthmore president, died shortly before he was to meet with a faculty committee which had been studying demands made by negro demonstrators.

The demonstrators walked out of the admissions office about five hours after Smith, a Rhodes scholarships executive, was pronounced dead. A spokesman said they gave up their occupation out of respect for Smith.

The Quaker-affiliated school near Philadelphia was thrown into near shock by the death of Smith. Colleagues said he had been under "a strain" since about 25 blacks took over the admissions office to enforce demands for more Negro students, faculty and administrators and a role in policy making.

8-Day AP Strike Ends

New York (AP) — The Wire Service Guild announced Thursday night its membership has voted to accept a three-year contract offered by The Associated Press, ending an eight-day strike.

Striking employes were to report to their jobs on the day shift Friday.

The vote by Guild members employed by the AP throughout the United States came less than 12 hours after members of the United Telegraph Workers union had returned to work.

The UTW employes, who operate and maintain teleprinters and other equipment, had refused to cross picket lines of the Guild, which struck the AP Jan. 9.

Sheriff To Be In Nixon's Tux

Chicago (AP) — President-elect Nixon's tuxedo has been sent to be cleaned for the inaugural ball in Washington Monday, but Sheriff Joseph I. Woods of Cook County will wear it.

Woods, a staunch Republican and the brother of Nixon's personal secretary, Rosemary Woods, has proudly proclaimed for years that he wears Nixon's hand-me-downs.

The tuxedo, a size 42 regular, made in Hong Kong, was passed along to Woods in 1966.

Prices Of Gold Drop In Europe

London (AP) — Gold prices on Europe's free markets were lower Thursday. News that the Vietnam peace talks were resuming appeared to build confidence in major paper currencies.

The afternoon fixing in London was $42.35 an ounce, down from the record high of $42.75 Wednesday.

Hickel, Kennedy Come Under Fire

Washington (UPI) — Chicago banker David Kennedy and Alaska Gov. Walter J. Hickel came under fire Thursday before Senate committees considering their qualifications to serve in President-elect Nixon's Cabinet.

Kennedy was accused of a "clearcut conflict of interest" in the way he planned to dispose of his bank stocks. Hickel was accused of using his power as governor to harm the livelihood of a group of Eskimo fishermen.

Other Senate Committee confirmation hearings produced clear sailing for Michigan Gov. George Romney, nominated to be secretary of housing and urban development; Clifford M. Hardin, to be agriculture secretary; Maurice Stans, to be commerce secretary, and John Volpe, to be transportaton secretary. Senate committees recommended confirmation for all four.

'I Shall Insist'

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., urged the Senate Finance Committee to withhold action on Kennedy's nomination as Treasury secretary. "I shall insist that the conflict of interest be removed," Gore said.

In a letter to the committee chairman, Sen. Russell Long, D-La., Gore said, "A clear-cut conflict of interest appears, it seems to me, with respect to large holdings of stock in a bank whose profits are affected by the interest rate structures that Kennedy would oversee.

Gore said Kennedy's plan to place his Continental Illinois National Bank stock in a trust to be administered by the bank during his period of government service is "superficial" and "nothing more than a bookkeeping agreement." Kennedy is board chairman of the Chicago bank.

At an Interior Committee hearing, Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., questoned Hickel about his action in preventing the sale of salmon to a Japanese firm by the Kuskokwim Fishermen Cooperative. The Eskimo cooperative Wednesday filed a $150,000 suit against Hickel for his action.

"You used the power of your office to damage one group of producers to the advantage of a group of processors," McGovern told Hickel. He said the Eskimos lived "at the poverty level — earning between $500 and $800 a year."

Hickel, Nixon's nominee as interior secretary, said his action benefitted the Alaska fishing industry as a whole. He justified it under a state policy providing there should be some primary fish processing in Alaska before the fish are sold in foreign commerce.

He retracted Wednesday's statement denying that he cited an international treaty to block the deal after McGovern referred to newspaper accounts of a letter Hickel wrote the Japanese. Japanese.

The senator contended Hickel had no right to interfere with a private contract or to cite international treaties — the province of the State Department, not a governor.

Udall Urges Mining Act Be Repealed

Washington — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall in a parting broadside Thursday called the nation's basic mining law a giveaway, urged its repeal, and recommended a complete overhaul of the mineral-leasing system.

Declaring that the mining Act of 1872 "operates as an outright giveaway of vital national resources," Udall said it should be replaced by a new mineral leasing system based on multiple use of public lands.

Such action, he declared, remains "the most important piece of unfinished business on the nation's natural resource agenda."

Guard Ordered To Join Search

Broken Bow (AP) — The Civil Air Patrol ended its search in northeastern Nebraska late Thursday for a plane carrying six persons, missing since last Saturday evening.

A CAP spokesman said it was hoped a full scale air and ground search could be resumed Friday in the Broken Bow area in central Nebraska where weather conditions prevented a thorough search earlier for the white plane with red trim, last heard from in a radio check at North Platte at 6:15 p.m. Saturday.

Gov. Norbert Tiemann ordered the Nebraska National Guard to join the search and gave approval to use Guard personnel and helicopters.

Official entry of the Guard will bring additional helicopters and personnel into the search.

The plane carried two faculty members and four students from Augustana College at Sioux Falls, S.D., returning from a forensics meet at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Missing are Frayne Anderson, 43, head librarian and pilot of the plane; forensics director K. Don Tibbetts, 34, and four debate students, Joyce Estwick, Milan, Minn.; Linda Heidemann, Rapid City, S.D., Al Jensen, Pipestone, Minn. and James Housek of Shawnee Mission, Kan.

All Leads Checked

Members of the CAP mission returned to Omaha from the South Sioux City area, where a spokesman said all possible leads had been checked out. Eleven planes, including a helicopter, flew over the area after a fruitless ground search Wednesday by more than 250 Augustana students.

The CAP said about 15 planes and possibly more than three helicopters would be aloft, weather permitting, in the Broken Bow area Friday.

Ground parties will be assisted by snowmobiles.

Gov. Tiemann authorized the State Civil Defense Agency to provide assistance in the search. A control station was set up at Broken Bow to coordinate National Guard and Civil Defense efforts.

Papillion Watershed Plans Are Caught In Power Fight

By MARGUERITE DAVIS

Washington (UPI) — Nebraska's proposed Papillion watershed project is caught in the middle of a power fight between Congress and the White House, Agriculture Department sources said Thursday.

Even if Richard M. Nixon should choose not to continue the dispute after his inauguration Jan. 20, the project still is threatened by a budget squeeze, it was said.

The quarrel between President Johnson and congressional committees stems from the formula for approving watershed projects. The department may allocate funds for small projects, but congressional approval is required for any with a single water impoundment capacity of 2,500 acre feet or involving a federal cost of $250,000.

Under time-honored procedure, department-recommended projects are acted upon by House and Senate Agriculture or Public Works Committees, depending on the nature of the work involved, then returned to the department without being submitted for a vote in either chamber.

The Johnson administration contends action should come from the executive branch of government or from Congress, and that permitting committees to handle the projects is an unconstitutional delegation of authority.

Requests Refused

The administration for two years has refused to request or spend money for such projects. The Agriculture Committees, jealous of their veto power over the department, have been equally adamant in insisting on retaining the status quo.

If the Nixon administration agrees with the committees, money will remain a problem.

State Loses 2,000 Farms In Past Year

By the Associated Press

Nebraska lost another 2,000 farms last year, although the number of farmland acres in the state remained unchanged, a government report shows.

The trend toward fewer but larger farms has persisted since 1934, according to the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

In 1934, the state had 135,000 farms. By 1957 the number had dropped below 100,000. In 1967 the total was 78,000, and last year the number dropped to 76,000 farms, although acreage remains at 48.2 million.

The current estimate indicates an average 641 acres per farm. In 1960 the average was 518.

Another report from agricultural statisticians showed Nebraska farmers last year increased their use of commercial fertilizers by 14%.

Usage during the year ended last June 30 totaled 1,004,000 tons, compared with 878,000 tons in the previous 12 years.

A survey showed Nebraska farmers applied fertilizer to 90% of corn acreage, 43% of wheat acreage, and 25% of soybean acreage.

Great-Grandmother At 83 Cited As A 'Den Mother'

Hastings — An 83-year old Stuart great-grandmother, who may be the nation's oldest Cub Scout "den mother" Thursday received the "Eyes on Nebraska" award.

The honor given by the Nebraska Optometric Association saluted Mrs. Jane Cobb of this Holt County community. Mrs. Cobb has been a "den mother" for 19 years — another probable record in the Boys Scouts of America organization.

Dr. William Higgins, president of the Nebraska Optometric Association, said that Mrs. Cobb, "despite her age, leads her Cubs on their hikes and is an active participant. She is a strong believer in helping the youth of her community."

Several years ago, Mrs. Cobb was asked how it felt to be "den mother" long after her own children had left home. "I'm the luckiest old woman in the world," she replied.

Nineteen years ago-plus, a Boy Scout executive placed an advertisement in the Stuart Advocate: "Wanted: Cub Scout Den Mothers." He didn't get much response and word spread around the small north Nebraska town.

"I said to myself, if I were just a little younger I would apply," related Mrs. Cobb. On second thought, she said: "Why not?"

Mrs. Cobb said she has been a strong believer in Scouting for many years. "My son Stanley was a Boy Scout," she said. "He has been a scoutmaster and has served on troop committees. I felt it was my duty to serve."

How does she stand the noise and confusion of a Tuesday den meeting?

"No trouble at all," she answered. "I don't know what a bad boy is because my boys are all good."

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

When it comes to the federal budget, taxes and inflation, the average person ends up on a kind of treadmill. It is a tough problem in economics to figure out just where the best interest of all citizens is to be found.

The budget submitted to Congress by President Johnson is good or bad, depending upon how you feel about the programs it would finance. But it is easy to understand why one congressman said the budget is "put together with mirrors."

The congressman spoke of changes in methods of accounting which allowed for a surplus that isn't really there. We do not know about any such changes in accounting but the bare facts do provide some insight and encourage some skepticism.

★

There is a budget surplus only if the surtax is continued, several excise taxes continued, certain excise taxes increased and postal rates hiked. Additionally, the President proposes more increases in Social Security and, of course, payroll deductions to finance them.

One obvious conclusion is that any budget can be balanced so long as there is an unlimited source of income to tap. But balancing a budget is not, as individuals know, a matter of figuring out all your spending and then finding an income to match it.

In another area, a task force appointed by President-elect Richard M. Nixon has recommended, among other things, the elimination or curtailment of home mortgage interest payments as a deduction from federal income taxes.

At the same time, President Johnson has apparently proposed no real tightening of the many tax loopholes that exist. Thus, what is happening is a continuing taxation of average citizens to the point of becoming a real burden.

★

Meanwhile, vast amounts of wealth in the nation go on escaping taxation. It seems that if this nation is going to meet all the public demands that are piling up, the wealth of the nation is going to have to be tapped.

It is somewhat of an injustice to speak as President Johnson does of the wealth of this nation and its ability to support public programs. The trouble with that is that the burden of support does not fall according to real wealth.

The President and practically all of Nixon's cabinet appointments are an example of this. They are all wealthy people, with an exception here and there. Some of them have had to divest themselves of huge fortunes just to serve without conflicts of interest.

All of this is not an indictment of our free, competitive system, which is still the best that any nation has devised. But not all the wealth of this nation is found in the average working man, despite his impressive combined totals.

★

We have reached a point at all levels of government where more consideration needs to be given to the taxation of sources of large accumulation of wealth. It is an injustice to continue to pile upon the wage-earner a mounting tax burden while a relatively small portion of the population continues to amass more and more money and to live more and more luxuriously.

The great mass of people in this country would be far more agreeable to the taxation placed upon them if they could be confident that the burden were falling with equality. Since Johnson has ignored, for the most part, a congressional directive to submit tax reforms at this session, it is hoped that Nixon picks up the ball.

And the kind of tax reforms to be sought should not be the kind recommended by the Nixon task force. Rather, they should be aimed at correcting at least some of the economic imbalance that exists in the nation.

Waiting Room

Revenue Bond Prospectus

A prospectus is an outline of something such as an operation or a bond issue. That is what is needed in connection with the proposed $20 million highway revenue bond issue proposed by State Engineer Marvin Nuernberger.

According to the plan, the issue would be used mainly to facilitate construction of the Interstate Highway. There could be some argument with this but that might prove to be the best plan of action from all points of view.

Obviously, the bond issue would, at least ultimately, provide some work on other highways, too, since the Interstate is scheduled to be completed by 1974. On the other hand, the Interstate needs $70 million in spending to reach completion, requiring a good chunk of state funds which could be spread over the 20-year bond-retirement period.

Presumably, bond money used in advance of federal Interstate payments would not be large since all that money will be available by the time work is completed. Also, Nebraska could do a lot worse than accelerate its Interstate construction from the point of view of competition with other states.

Much of the spending involved will be done in Omaha but this does not mean the rest of the state would not benefit from the bond program. The facts are that Omaha will receive first priority whether we have bonds or not because it could otherwise not be completed on time. If not completed, the federal Interstate funds would simply be lost.

Thus, the bond program will actually improve the construction timetable mostly in the western part of the state. On that basis, the bond program deserves widespread support in the Legislature.

Johnson Lured Back

The tribute accorded Lyndon Johnson by the joint session of Congress on the occasion of his farewell State of the Union message was offered up to the man himself as well as to the office of the President of the United States.

The whistling, the cheers might have tasted more of a Press Club meeting than a joint session of Congress, but it's good the people of the nation could see that tradition and sentiment still abound in Washington, despite the rancor of the recent past.

As the strains of "Auld Lang Syne" intermingled with the thunderous applause on his last trip up the center aisle as president, it must have given Johnson and his family a tremendously comforting feeling.

For the feeling expressed for the President that night, we suspect, was just as much because he has been a man of the Congress for most of his adult life as because he is the President, or because he leaves office or because they were telling him he didn't do right but he tried.

First as a doorkeeper in the House gallery, then as an assistant to a congressman, as a member of the House himself, as senator, vice president and finally as president, Johnson has learned the workings of Congress and knows the people who have served and now serve there better than any living man.

As emphatically as the President says all he wants to do is "some reading, writing and maybe a little walking with Lady Bird," he undoubtedly will want to, and probably will, go back to Congress.

TOM WICKER

Fred Harris From Oklahoma

WASHINGTON — Fred Harris is an amiable first-term senator from Oklahoma, who at 38 and after only four years in Washington has gone farther and faster than most politicians move in a lifetime. But he put his career in his own kind of perspective last year in a one-sentence dedication to a book he had just written:

"To the American taxpayer and my wife, LaDonna, and a great many others, all of whom know very well that I am no self-made man."

A little later on in "Alarms and Hopes," he explained that "just as tax-paid roads and school buses, the federal hot-lunch program and public school buildings and teachers made possible my high school graduation, so, too, was the availability of publicly supported higher education, a principal and essential element in my being able to obtain college and law school degrees."

That kind of candor and perception are not often found in those who have made it out of inauspicious beginnings, like the Oklahoma dustbowl, to the kind of fast track on which Fred Harris now is running. Many of these are only too quick to relate how they did it all for themselves without any help from those left-wing pseudo-intellectuals in Washington who want to socialize everything.

☆ ☆ ☆

But Harris obviously has more than modesty to recommend him, since in four years all he has done is win election twice to the Senate, first over the formidable Coach Bud Wilkinson (their race, in 1964, was for an unexpired term); serve with distinction on the Kerner Commission on Civil Disorders; write his book; act as co-manager in Vice President Humphrey's pre-convention campaign last year; remain in contention until the final choice was made between him and Senator Ed Muskie for Humphrey's running mate; serve as one of the top Democratic strategists and operators during the fall campaign; and win election as the new chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

None of this was a picnic, but Harris may think so when he assumes his thankless new job. The Democrats are not only the out-party, at which they have little experience, and heavily in debt, to which they are accustomed. They are also confronted with a politically oriented Republican President who probably commands a popular majority of "The unpoor, the unblack and the unyoung."

The Democrats still are riven by the strains of the 1968 campaign with its profound factional and ideological disputes; and as they look ahead to 1972, at least five possible presidential aspirants — Humphrey, Muskie, Edward Kennedy, George McGovern and Eugene McCarthy — are clearly visible. But no fully accredited and accepted leader is yet in acknowledged command.

Harris is going to have to coordinate his rebuilding program with all these leaders, to say nothing of Lyndon B. Johnson, Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and Speaker John McCormack. One device by which he hopes to do this is the proposed Democratic Advisory Council; so far from making it a rival of the congressional leaders, Harris sees it as potentially an instrument for avoiding having two Democratic parties — one congressional, one presidential. He even dreams that from Democratic control of Congress and from an active advisory council might arise something of "a British-like shadow government," with a staff and various supplementary task forces.

A thorny, immediate problem will be the selection of members of the committee that the national convention created for the reform of delegate selection and other procedures. Ted Kennedy supports a McCarthy man, Sen. Harold Hughes of Iowa, but Humphrey objects to Hughes. On his ability to put together a committee that not only satisfies party leaders but gives party dissidents the promise of actual reform, Fred Harris's future effectiveness as party chairman probably depends.

He talked to and won approval of each of the 110 members of the national committee, but it was Humphrey who nominated him for the post (which is why Harold Hughes is most unlikely to head the reform committee). Harris could not reach McCarthy, who was away, when he tried to ask for his support, and Kennedy's attitude is believed to be still a little wary. Mansfield is at least a tentative opponent of the advisory council.

On a more mundane level, the new chairman was startled to find that his new job boasts one of the plushest office suites in town, as well as a staff of 55 persons. It won't have either for long, if Fred Harris moves in as quickly as he has everywhere else.

Plea For Widows

Lincoln, Neb.

Noting Mr. Kitchen's letter in the Tuesday Star on the Homestead exemption, I can certainly agree with him in part, but what about the widows in this city who live on fixed incomes or low salaries?

There always seems to be so much about under-privileged people, unwed mothers, etc., but no one seems to realize that there are probably hundreds of widows in this city who are trying to keep a roof over their heads and aren't burdens to the taxpayers, and I think it is time they are being given some consideration.

Individual Effort

Lincoln, Neb.

I am absolutely appalled at the lethargy shown by the state of Nebraska in regard to the condition of our institution for the mentally retarded in Beatrice. The conditions are unbelievably insufficient to meet the needs of these people, who through no fault of their own or their parents are totally unequipped to meet the demands of our so competitive society.

The least we can do as citizens of this state is to provide adequate facilities. This includes proper food preparation and equipment and adequate pay to attract a competent staff. I do not mean to imply that those who are presently serving under such trying conditions are not giving of themselves above and beyond the call of duty, but the fact remains that the facility is grossly understaffed. Paying adequate wages would certainly help to rectify this inadequacy.

Those of us who are blessed with normal children should thank God that we are so blessed and then we should do all that is in our power to see that these unfortunate children are given the best care our affluent society can provide.

I urge everyone to write his state legislators, the governor and anyone else who has influence, also to attend the legislative session on this problem and to stand up for what we know is right. Each is just one person, but as Edward Everett Hale said: "I am only one, but still I am one. I cannot do everything, but still I can do something. And because I cannot do everything, I will not refuse to do the something that I can do."

Homestead Exemption

Lincoln, Neb.

Congratulations to Mr. Kitchen for his letter on the homestead exemption. His "Six Cents Worth" in the January 14 Star is excellent.

The Legislature did hasten to double their salaries. Now we will see if they follow the mandate of the people on the homestead exemption or decide to be deceitful with the voters.

Elderly folks need relief now, not after they have lost their homes fighting inflation.

Teenagers In Favor Of Strenuous Work

NEW YORK — It is curious that while the working man strives for ever shorter working hours, a sociologist found that teenagers—at least in the heart of the country—value work as the best way to become successful adults.

Arthur Barron, interviewing nearly 700 sixteen-year-olds in a small town in Missouri, asked them what is absolutely essential to leading a "successful adult life."

Seventy-three per cent of them replied, "working hard."

Of course, America is a broad land and its ethics vary according to region. In the Midwest, I have always suspected (perhaps because that's where I come from), work is still cherished as the salvation of a human who otherwise would get himself into all kinds of awful trouble. Prof. Barron's further research seemed to verify this probability.

"It was frightening," he said, "to see such wonderful, bright youngsters living in such conformity, under such strong adult-imposed pressures. Adults have tyrannized them, rather than vice versa. They never quarrel with thir parents about politics or morals.

"These teenagers are not kids, at all. They're middle-aged people, already on the treadmill to success. They're not wild, they're shockingly puritanical.

"Those children have as many pressures as the average man or woman in his forties."

Their sex values, he said, were highly conventional. They didn't believe in "petting," even when a couple was engaged to be married.

The great majority had never had a drink or a cigarette.

And fewer than 25 per cent watched TV often — even on weekends.

But these wonderful youngsters, caught in the mainstream of old values, are not hopelessly square in today's shiftless world. Asked their main goal in life, the greatest percentage (77) wanted "a good paying job, money and success."

With that aim, by the time they're out of college they'll doubtless be plugging for that 20-hour work week like everybody else . . .

Noise pollution can be as unhealthy as air pollution.

Wayne State University studied 1,147 households in Detroit. Fifteen per cent of those households were frequently exposed to large amounts of noise. It was discovered that two-thirds of these noise-exposed households suffered twice as many colds, flu and infection illnesses as the quieter families.

And, of course, living or working in metropolitan areas is a noisier experience than living in the hinterlands.

So when people say "This city makes me sick," they're not kidding!

Hickel Embarrassed By Ferryboat Purchase; Seeks Altering Of Legislation As Cover-Up

WASHINGTON — Senators who have been probing the oil affiliations and anti-conservation background of Secretary of the Interior-designate Walter J. Hickel have concluded he definitely deserves the nickname "Help Yourself Hickel."

He may also merit two other nicknames, "I Am The Law" and "Leap Before You Look," as the result of the purchase of a Swedish ship for use in Alaskan coastal trade.

There is some speculation that Gov. Hickel deliberately fronted for the oil companies in trying to break down the Jones Act which forbids foreign-built vessels from plying in U.S. coastal trade. In any event, he did not look before he leaped. For he is now stuck with a Norwegian-built, Swedish-purchased boat flying the Panamanian flag, which cannot carry either passengers or cargo between Alaskan cities, for which trade it was specifically purchased.

Furthermore, if Hickel should accomplish the miracle and get the Jones Act repealed, he would still have to shell out approximately $7 million—which is what he paid for the Swedish ship in the first place — in order to rebuild it to meet Coast Guard safety regulations.

In 1966 the people of Alaska voted a bond issue to acquire additional ferries in order to bring summer tourists from Seattle and British Columbia up the beautiful Alaskan inland waterway. Tourism has become big business in Alaska, and it was well advertised to the voters that the state would build a new ferry to ply along the scenic coast.

Wally Hickel was elected governor in late 1966, and shortly after taking office in January, 1967, he switched the plan which had been sold to the voters. A design for a new American-built ferry had been prepared by a naval architectural firm in Seattle and had been sent to several shipyards in the United States, and the lowest bidder was reported to have been Levingston Shipbuilding Company of Orange, Texas, for the price of approximately $8 million.

Meanwhile Gov. Hickel had been negotiating with New York brokers for the purchase of a foreign-built ferry and finally did purchase the Swedish Stenna Britannica, for approximately $7 million. It was reported that the ship had been on the market for approximately $4,500,000.

Gov. Hickel was immediately reminded that the Jones Act would prohibit a foreign-built vessel from plying between American ports. His reply was to ask the late Sen. Bob Bartlett and Sen. Ernest Gruening of Alaska to introduce an amendment changing the Jones Act.

The Coast Guard then wrote Hickel warning that it would object to any vessel plying in coastal waters which did not meet the safety laws of the United States. So Hickel was stuck with his Panamanian flag, Swedish-purchased, Norwegian-built vessel.

☆ ☆ ☆

The vessel, now renamed The James Wickersham, in honor of an early delegate from Alaska, is now in use. But you can't get on at any Alaskan port to go to another Alaskan port. It's all very embarrassing.

"Leap Before You Look" Hickel was further embarrassed by the fact that the ship broke down in mid-Atlantic, then had further troubles in the Pacific and had to put into San Diego for repairs.

A further embarrassment is the fact that in order to use the Wickersham as an efficient ferry, it will be necessary either to cut large holes in the ship's hull for side loading of automobiles or else rebuild the existing ferry terminals in Alaska. The ship's present design permits only bow and stern loading.

Meanwhile, "I Am The Law" Hickel is determined to remake the law in order to accommodate his ferryboat. Last month, Dec. 5, 1968, his office issued a news release stating: "Gov. Walter J. Hickel fired off telegrams today to Alaska's congressional delegation disclosing a two-pronged attack—both through the courts and through renewed efforts to revamp the Jones Act—aimed at heading off what the governor called a new threat to the U.S. domestic petroleum industry."

Governor Plans New 'Hall' Series

Gov. Norbert Tiemann told freshman senators Thursday that he will launch a new series of town hall meetings this year, perhaps during the current legislative session.

Tiemann said he believed last year's meetings accomplished some good in helping inform the public on the activities of state government.

Strangely enough, the governor noted, he found that "the smaller the town, the bigger the crowd."

Orientation

Tiemann met with freshman lawmakers as a part of the series of orientation meetings being arranged by Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha.

The governor offered lawmakers the assistance of his office and other executive departments, and pledged a cooperative effort to work together.

Recurring criticism of a lack of communication between the governor's office and the Legislature is "not all justified," Tiemann said.

Merely Disagreement

The so-called lack of communication is often merely disagreement on issues, he noted.

"There has got to be some competition between the branches of government," the governor said, and as long as it is healthy and constructive, it should promote efficiency.

Tiemann urged the new senators to "become acquainted with the key people" in executive departments, and particularly invited them to take a personal look at the operations of the state tax commissioner's office and the Department of Administrative Services.

Would Like Tour

Proud said he would like to help arrange with the governor's staff a tour of various departments.

Tiemann said he expects the 1969 session to be quite different from 1967 when lawmakers had to hammer out a new tax system.

This session, he said, the problems will include tax rates, allocation of available funds and state priorities.

Communicate

Tiemann urged the senators to communicate with the people as he has tried to do in town hall meetings.

"We work for the same people," he noted. "And we are responsible to the same people."

Meat Inspection Measure Called 'A Must' By Kremer

State Sen. Maurice A. Kremer of Aurora, chairman of the Legislature's Agriculture Committee, said Thursday passage of a meat inspection bill is "a must" during this session of the Legislature.

"This is one of the heavy issues for our committee," he said. "Under the new federal law passed by Congress the federal government will move right in if we don't pass a law."

Kremer, who was chairman of the committee during the last session also, said several other matters also will occupy his committee's time.

"I feel soil testing stations around the state need to be standardized," he said. "With all the new fertilizers available, I think we need to look into the making of recommendations for the use of fertilizer.

"A bill like this can help assure a farmer he isn't buying too much fertilizer," he said.

Kremer said he also wants to take a look at soil conditioners being used in the state. He introduced a bill to control the use of soil conditioners in the Legislature Thursday.

"We have to deal with soil conditioners and how they need to be tested and have their value proven before they are allowed to be used in the state," he said.

He also introduced a measure to control the standards of commercial distribution of seeds.

"We also hope to bring up to date laws dealing with weights and measures," the chairman said. "This is another area that needs some revision."

Sen. Matzke Hospitalized

State Sen. Stanley Matzke, 70, of Milford, was reported in satisfactory condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital Thursday evening after becoming ill Thursday afternoon while at the State Capitol.

Matzke had just finished addressing freshman lawmakers at an orientation session when he fainted.

Dr. Lynn Thompson, state health director was summoned and said later "clinically, it looks like a slight coronary."

The senator was placed in the coronary care unit at Bryan Memorial for observation.

Matzke said he was in condition to walk to the ambulance which had been summoned to the Capitol, but Dr. Thompson directed that he be transported in a wheelchair.

MONDAY HOLIDAYS SOUGHT

At least five of Nebraska's recognized holidays would be observed on Mondays under a bill introduced in the Legislature Thursday by Sen. William F. Swanson of Lincoln and co-sponsored by Sen. Don Elrod of Grand Island.

The legislation would put Nebraska in uniformity with a recent federal enactment on holidays.

Labor Day is the only holiday presently observed regularly on Monday in Nebraska.

Swanson's LB337 would add Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Columbus Day and Veterans Day to the list.

Washington's Birthday, now celebrated Feb. 22, would be observed on the third Monday in February.

Memorial Day, now May 30, would be observed the last Monday in May.

Columbus Day, now Oct. 12, would be observed the second Monday in October.

Veterans Day, now Nov. 11 would be observed the fourth Monday in October.

Holidays which would not be disturbed include Jan. 1, New Year's Day; Feb. 12, Lincoln's Birthday; April 22, Arbor Day; July 4, Independence Day; Thanksgiving Day, Fourth Thursday in November, and Dec. 25, Christmas Day.

Old Cigar Store In Lincoln Featured Chess, Sandwiches

By JOE WING
Associated Press Writer

New York (AP) — Back in Lincoln, Neb., where I come from, there used to be an old cigar store, not far from the center of town, that featured chess and sandwiches.

The sandwiches were all right and you could get a pretty good lunch for two bits but the chess was extraordinary. Nothing cloistered about it.

To play in that company, the special skills required were temporary deafness, to shut out the exhortations of kibitzers, and ability to figure out chess combinations under the pressure of outspoken heckling. If you were a weak character you might even find the kibitzers moving the pieces for you.

Never Played

When the proprietor decided to make the best of a raucous situation by charging a dime a game, the customers thinned out a little. But I never did get up the nerve to play a game there.

It was only natural nevertheless that when I came to New York I should gravitate to the chess parlor on the third floor of a dingy old building near the center of town at 42nd and Broadway. I still go there.

There, after pushing through crowds of tourists and mincing homos and gawkers and ladies on the prowl, you find a large bare room lighted by unshaded bulbs and strewn with chess tables and players and empty coffee cups, and kibitzers.

You can buy sandwiches at the parlor too and while away an evening watching characters thrust and parry across the checkered boards, at 40 cents an hour apiece, while taking an occasional glance at other characters straggling into the girlie movies across the street.

Bowery Types

Some of the players look as if they might feel more at home in the Bowery. Others are aggressive types from the Seventh Avenue garment district around the corner. Or college students who have brought time clocks to simulate tournament conditions. There are also business men relaxing . . . unidentified strays . . . and me.

After some thousands of hours spent on the weaker side of a chess board, I have the nerve now to ask the gimlet-eyed major domo to arrange a game for me.

"Beginner?" he asks.

"About medium," I reply cautiously.

He points to a haggard, unshaven, rumpled old man, who sizes me up quickly.

"Dollar a game," he says.

Whiskey Money

I know immediately I've had it. Anybody under those glaring lights who proposes a dollar a game certainly has no expectation of losing his dollar. He probably counts on it for whiskey money.

But it's Friday night and you're rich so you accept the challenge. The game hasn't advanced 10 moves before you're in more difficulties than you can account for. Ten more, he grabs your queen and it's all over.

"Got to catch a train," you explain hurriedly despite his protests, dropping a dollar bill and starting down the two smelly flights of steps. And going to the subway you wonder why in the last 35 years or so you haven't pushed aside less essential matters, like holding down a job, and really sharpened up on your chess. You might be making whiskey money that way too.

Wing Says Store Was On 11th St.

Joe Wing, the author of the accompanying story, said Thursday the old cigar store in Lincoln he described was located on the east side of 11th St. just south of O St.

Wing was a staff member of the Lincoln Star from 1924-29.

He attended the University of Nebraska after his graduation from Lincoln High School.

Lodge News—The "Sunday Journal and Star" has it.

STORY AT RIGHT

HARDIN . . . appears before committee.

Dining Cars Are Inadequate

Warsaw (AP) — The newspaper Kurier Polski complains editorially that the Polish railway system has only 20 restaurant cars and 10 of them are in bad repair. It says 100 are needed.

Hardin's Nomination Is Unofficially Approved

Washington (AP) — The Senate Agriculture Committee unofficially approved the nomination of University of Nebraska Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin Monday to be secretary of agriculture.

The committee endorsement cannot be made official until President-elect Nixon becomes president Monday and submits his Cabinet choice to the Senate for approval.

Individual members of the Agriculture Committee voiced approval of Hardin, assuring that his approval will be routine.

No Big Changes

The 53-year-old chancellor spent 30 minutes before the committee. He told the senators he plans no drastic changes in the national farm program — "not now — maybe not later."

But Hardin said he feels there is need for some program to handle production.

Hardin said he endorsed the idea of taking some 55 to 60 million acres of national farm land out of production but added, "I don't know if this can be done."

30-Minute Appearance

Hardin's appearance before the committee lasted about 30 minutes and he received strong support from the entire body.

He was introduced by Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., who called him a great administrator and a great leader, one who has kept in close touch with agriculture problems.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., testified that the plight of rural America must get attention and that Hardin is eminently qualified for the job.

Hardin also received strong endorsement from John W. Scott, of Butler, Pa., master of the National Grange and former master of the Pennsylvania State Grange.

Scott said Hardin is well-known to the Grange, having served on various projects under former Presidents Truman and Kennedy and President Johnson.

Campbell Appears

Also appearing before the committee was Phil Campbell, Georgia commissioner of agriculture since 1954, who is slated to become undersecretary of agriculture.

Under questioning, Campbell said he favored continued government support of the farmer and strict government inspection of foreign meats, including dairy products.

He said he opposed passage of the wholesome meat act but only in one small area. "The way the bill was written, states could get out of the meat inspection business — one state has already — Ohio," he said.

About 80 Republicans Jetting To Inauguration

Gov. and Mrs. Norbert Tiemann head a list of about 80 Republicans who will fly by chartered jet from Omaha to Washington Friday for President-elect Nixon's inauguration on Monday.

Most of the passengers will be Nebraskans. A few hail from Iowa.

Other passengers include State Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha and his wife, GOP National Committeewoman Anne Batchelder.

William Galbraith of Beemer, who apparently is slated for a U.S. Department of Agriculture appointment, will also be aboard the plane.

Lincoln passengers include Ed Weaver Jr., Lancaster County GOP chairman.

State Chairman Lorraine Orr of North Platte is already in Washington, but plans to return with the Nebraska group Tuesday.

GOP State Executive Secretary Joe Edwards and his wife will also be aboard the jet.

A reception, hosted by Washington's Nebraska Society, will be held Friday night honoring the state's congressional delegation.

The Nebraska group may also attend the regular Tuesday morning delegation breakfast before returning to Omaha.

A military aide, Navy Commander Estell Hayes, will escort the governor and his wife to inaugural activities.

New Faces In Suburbia

This morning we'd like to take the opportunity to do a bit of introducing. There are several new faces in suburbia — to be more specific, in Park Manor and Wellington Greens.

Busy getting acquainted in the Park Manor area is a very young, and we might add, very appealing young lad. He is Master Jeffrey Leo Dissmeyer, and he is currently quite the center of attention at the 1900 Riviera Dr., home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger L. Dissmeyer.

Jeffrey made his Lincoln debut on Jan. 7 at Bryan Memorial Hospital, and quite excited about having a brand new brother is Jeffrey's sister, Kimberly Ann, who is 16 months old. Of course, we must also mention three of the young man's most ardent admirers, his grandparents — Mrs. Leo Bredenkamp of York, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dissmeyer, who make their home in Beatrice.

In Wellington Greens, the new faces belong to Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ness who recently have taken up residence in the area. Mr. and Mrs. Ness, whose former address was 3600 S. 35th St., now are calling 7501 Old Post Rd. "home."

Welcoming newcomers has not been the only pastime in suburbia of late, however. Although the weather has been less than cheery, the indoor atmosphere remains festive as residents host and attend parties and get-togethers of every description.

In Eastborough, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Eastman will be entertaining at a party this evening. The get-together in the Eastman home has a practical, as well as a festive purpose — Mr. and Mrs. Eastman will serve as host and hostess for approximately 30 neighborhood friends at a membership drive for the proposed Northeast Branch of the YWCA.

Kimballcrest residents Mr. and Mrs. Houghton Furr, Sr. will entertain about 40 guests at a reception tomorrow following the marriage of Miss Linda Arnone and Charlie Greene.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Schrier and children, Jeffrey, Jill and Julie, will be entertaining a houseguest for the next two months. Their guest is Miss Pat Hensley of Lubbock, Tex., and she is a student at the University of Nebraska. A member of Delta Gamma sorority, Miss Hensley will be with the Schriers until her March 29th marriage to Mark Moreland, also a student at the university.

On Sunday, Jan. 19, Miss Hensley's mother, Mrs. Alvin Hensley will arrive from Lubbock for a week-long visit with her daughter and the Schriers. We imagine that her stay will be a busy one, too, since she will be helping with the plans for the approaching wedding!

Incidentally, Mrs. Schrier will, in the very near future, be hostess at a pre-nuptial party honoring Miss Hensley. The date for the event is Sunday, Jan. 26 and 25 guests will be attending the party which includes a luncheon after which they will present the bride-elect with a colonial kitchen shower.

MISS LINDA LEA JOHNSON

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Leland L. Johnson of the engagement of their daughter, Linda Lea, to Larry Nolan Brockman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Brockman.

A May wedding is planned.

Miss Johnson is a graduate of the Lincoln School of Commerce.

Mr. Brockman attended the University of Nebraska.

Courtesies

Miss Penrod, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Penrod, has revealed that her marriage to Marston Val Roloff of Charles City, Iowa, will be solemnized Friday evening, Feb. 7, at Temple Baptist Church.

Miss Patricia Ann Barry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Barry, who has chosen a January date for her marriage to Keith A. May, has been honored at numerous courtesies in recent weeks.

Entertaining for the bride-to-be on Sunday, Dec. 29, was Mrs. Wilbur Etmund who was hostess to feminine members of the family and family friends at her home in Hickman. During the party, a miscellaneous shower was presented to the honored guest.

Bridal Showers

Winter bride-elect Miss Diana Lynn King, has been honored at several courtesies preceding her wedding on Sunday, Jan. 19, when she will become the bride of University of Nebraska student, Richard Earl Manner of Oklahoma City.

Thursday, Miss King was presented a miscellaneous shower at a party for which Miss Lynda Wallen and Miss Marcia Conway were hostesses.

The bride-to-be was the honored guest at a luncheon and bridal shower on Wednesday, when Miss Beverly Woods, Miss Linda Johnson and Miss Susan Strong were hostesses at the Esquire Club.

The daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Wren King of San Jose, Calif., the bride-elect is a student at the University of Nebraska, where she also is employed.

The wedding of Miss King and Mr. Manner will take place at 2 o'clock, at the Wesley Foundation Chapel on the university campus.

Honored at several courtesies recently preceding her marriage to George Pella on Saturday, Jan. 18, has been Miss Debbie Polak.

Entertaining in courtesy to Miss Polak on Friday evening Jan. 10, were Mrs. Clarence King, Mrs. Jerry Cratsenberg and Mrs. Frank Fontaine, who were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower honoring the bride-elect.

Wednesday evening, Jan. 8, the bride-to-be was presented a miscellaneous shower at a party for which Mrs. Warren Lahm was hostess at her home. Co-hostess with Mrs. Lahm was Mrs. Gerald McCall.

The marriage of Miss Polak and Mr. Pella will be solemnized at an evening ceremony at the Cathedral Of The Risen Christ.

Legislative Ladies Open New Season

The Legislative Ladies League of Nebraska opened its 1969 season of activities on Thursday at a tea for which Mrs. Norbert T. Tiemann was hostess at the Governor's Mansion.

The members, who include the wives, mothers and daughters of current and former Nebraska state and national officers and legislators, meet twice each month during the session of the Nebraska Unicameral Legislature.

Standing at left is Mrs. Clarence Meyer of Lincoln, league president, and seated (from the left) is Mrs. Tiemann, Mrs. Elmer Wallwey of Emerson, and Mrs. H. K. Diers, Gresham.

Standing at back (left to right) are Mrs. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln, publicity chairman for the league, Mrs. Richard Ely, Guide Rock, Mrs. Eric Rasmussen, Fairmont, and Mrs. Kenneth Bowen, Red Cloud.

Defensive Driving Class Begins

Another series in the popular course on defensive driving is being offered by the Lancaster County Extension Service during February.

Registration is now open for the eight-hour course, which will be held at the Hill Hatchery community room, 6000 No. 56th, at 1:30 o'clock and again at 7:30 o'clock, on Tuesdays, Feb. 4, 11, 18 and 25th.

Instruction in the prevention of accidents —in spite of the incorrect actions of other drivers — will be given by State Safety Patrol officers.

The Ball Momentos—Bracelets, Cuff Links, Scarfs

Silver, gold and white used in a variety of dramatic ways in a multiplicity of materials are expected to make an exciting glamorous impact on the 30,000 dancers in the six locations of Inaugural Ball 1969. They will be celebrating in Washington, D.C., the incoming of Richard M. Nixon, the 37th President of the United States.

Presidential seals, huge eagles, columns handsomely draped in shimmering fabric and ceiling swagged with gold and silver deep fringe in the regal color scheme of the Ball are the nucleus of the decor planned by Mrs. Leslie Arends, wife of the House Republican Whip from Illinois' 17th District, who is Co-Chairman of Inaugural Ball 1969. Chairman of the Ball is Mark Evans, TV personality, lecturer, world traveler and Metromedia's Vice President for Public Affairs.

Mrs. Arends has worked closely with the well known dsplay designer, Earl Hargrove, president of Hargrove Displays, Inc. She feels that the whole Inaugural Committee is for the sole purpose of helping the President and his administration enter office in a memorable and appropriate atmosphere. How this is done from the standpoint of dignity, entertainment and decorations, she says, is how the administration is remembered in history. The prime interest is the tone and the impact that the Inaugural Balls will make because millions of TV viewers will be watching on that important night.

The decorations committee is highlighting the Inaugural theme of "Forward Together" incorporating it visually in every way, Mrs. Arends said. "We are going to make each ball site equal to the other in terms of decor, entertainment and emcees. The sites are: the Sheraton Park, Shoreham, Washington Hilton, Mayflower, and Statler Hilton hotels and the Smithsonian Institution's Museum of History and Technology.

Mrs. Richard Nixon had a preview showing of the gifts the 1969 Inaugural Ball guests will receive on January 20th in Washington, D.C.

Mr. Evans, and Mrs. Arends went from Washington to New York to show the three gifts to the wife of the President-elect.

Each lady guest at the Ball will receive a gold-filled medallion bracelet. The men will be given gold-filled cuff links. And in addition to a bracelet or a set of cuff links each guest seated in one of the $1,000-boxes at the Ball will receive a 21-inch square silk signature scarf signed by Richard M. Nixon.

One hundred of the scarves have been numbered and made up in 32-inch squares to be presented to the wives of the new President, Vice President, Cabinet members and other top new administration officials. Mrs. Nixon will receive scarf No. 1 and Mrs. Spiro Agnew will be presented with scarf No. 2.

On a white background with a blue and a red border, the scarf has a design commemorating the 1969 Inaugrual of Richard M. Nixon. The words "Forward Together" — the theme of the 1969 Inaugural — are written in blue, forming a pattern, and transposed on the letters in the center is a large blue "N."

This will be the first time in Inaugural history that a high fashion signature scarf, signed by the President, himself, has been given to any of the guests attending an Inaugural Ball.

Mrs. Arends and Frankie Welch of Alexandria, Va., designed the scarf. Frankie Welch designed the Republican fabric used during the last political campaign, and the Discover America scarf which was a souvenir of the White House Discover America luncheon.

The "Forward Together" design of the scarf is used in raised relief on one side of the square medallion of the bracelet. On the other side is the Inaugural Seal and the words, "Inaugural Ball, January 20, 1969." The medallion is suspended on a gold-filled wire bracelet.

The same Inaugural Seal is used in a raised design on the cuff links. Both the bracelet and the cuff links were designed and produced by Jordan James Hartnett of Washington, D.C. Mr. Hartnett has designed campaign symbols for two Presidents of the United States, presidential candidates, and members of the Congress.

Abby: stay home

DEAR ABBY: When my married daughter visits me I always give her the best sleeping accommodations in the house, but when I visit her for a few weeks she puts me on her davenport or any make-shift place.

This year she has written to say that if I come again this winter, she will put me in her unfinished, unheated attic room. There is no bath on that floor and I had a stroke two years ago which makes walking stairs difficult for me. Also I have weak kidneys and need to use the bathroom during the night.

My daughter is kind and good in other respects, but I am terribly hurt by these sleeping arrangements and am thinking strongly of not visiting her this winter. What would you do?

HURT MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I would stay home.

DEAR ABBY: I have written to you several times before but have yet to see one of my letters in the paper so will be surprised if I see this one.

The letter signed "Rube's Wife" has prompted me to write now. I know what that lady means when she says she feels that her husband was cheated as far as affection from her is concerned, as I, myself would much rather go to bed with a good book than with my husband. How we ever happened to have three children I can't quite figure out.

It would not bother me one bit if my husband came home and told me he had found a nice woman about his own age who was able to give him more love and affection than I can. I would ask only, "Is she clean?" Then I would just go out and get another book, and say, like Rube's wife, "No one would have to know."

Sign me "BOOKWORM"

DEAR ABBY: This is for "STUMPED," who didn't know what to say when she was asked why her husband didn't go to church with his family. "STUMPED" said she wasn't happy to be married to a heathen.

Abby, one is not a heathen simply because he doesn't go to church. A person can go to church every day in the week and twice on Sundays, but if he doesn't have God in his heart and respect for his fellow man, all his going is for naught. I know such people, and I have more respect for stay-at-home believers than church-going hypocrites. Sign me. . .

BRIDGE

response to the double

B. Jay Becker

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1♦	1♥	Pass	Pass
Dble	Pass	?

What would you bid now with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠9754 ♥742 ♦63 ♣Q985
2. ♠Q8763 ♥953 ♦J ♣KJ92
3. ♠J82 ♥KJ983 ♦84 ♣Q73
4. ♠K4 ♥QJ85 ♦93 ♣J9642

1. One spade. If you play enough bridge, you get accustomed to holding hands like this once in a while. The best you can do when you get them is maintain silence unless your partner forces you to bid.

In the present case, partner's double is not for penalties; it is for takeout. Partner wants you to bid, and it is your duty to respond. Situations where partner would have seven defensive tricks are much too rare for you to treat a double in this sequence as a penalty double. Logically, the double is for takeout. If North wanted to defend against one heart, he would pass.

North would also pass with a minimum opening bid, having spoken his piece when he said one diamond. It follows, therefore, that North is better than minimum. With a one-suited hand he would rebid his diamonds; with a two-suited hand he would probably bid his second suit. Consequently, he is likely to have a hand that looks something like:

♠ AJ82 ♥ 10 ♦ AQJ4 ♣ KJ62

Your spade response does not promise values. It is better to bid a spade than two clubs. It keeps the bidding lower.

2. Two spades. This isn't much of a hand either, standing by itself, but, considering partner's bidding, game is a distinct possibility. A one spade response would not reflect the promise of the hand. Partner might think you had a terrible hand, which you haven't.

You can't make the same response here as you did with the first hand. Partner is not a mind reader. You must jump to two spades to show signs of life.

3. Pass. Partner is asking you to bid by doubling one heart, but it is your prerogative to change his takeout double into a business double by passing — provided you have the right hand for it. You can probably take four tricks with hearts as trumps, and North is also likely to take four tricks. One heart doubled is probably the best spot.

4. One notrump. The choice lies between one notrump and two clubs. A bid of two clubs would not reflect your scattered high-card strength and could be based on a very weak hand. The notrump response is more encouraging and is never made with a poor hand. Since game is by no means out of the question, you choose the bid that offers the best chance of getting you there.

LEA Council Asks Insurance Changes

. . . SAY SOME SLIGHTED

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln Education Association council members Thursday resolved that each school district employe is entitled to a contribution to the group health insurance whether he is enrolled in a single or family plan.

One spouse is denied benefits of the district when a married couple, both employed by the district, choose the family plan, council members contended.

The Board of Education pays $6.20 "toward each policy issued," according to Associate Supt. Dr. Robert Den Hartog. "That is the way the plan was established" in 1965, with the approval of the LEA, he said.

Whether or not the board makes a contribution for each employe or for each policy issued is a "matter of interpretation of the plan," Den Hartog said.

He denied LEA executive secretary Ely Feistner's claim that the board policy as it is implemented is "illegal."

Feistner, saying that school officials had indicated the point would be a negotiable matter, told the LEA council that he did "not want to negotiate an illegal act."

In other business Thursday the LEA Council approved a proposal calling for a joint school board-LEA committee to "devise methods and procedures to make some significant reductions in class size before the 1969-70 school year."

The proposal was submitted to the council as an item that would be negotiated with the board of education.

A maximum class size was not proposed by the LEA study committee because members felt efforts should be made to "establish a workable situation in each school," reported chairman Joe Dappen.

The result might be additional staff, mechanical assistance for teachers or closing small schools, it was explained.

Dappen also noted that the committee found "surprisingly little evidence to coorelate better teaching with smaller classes," but smaller classes make a teacher's work load easier, he added.

LEA, Board Bicker Over Procedures

Lincoln Education Association president J. Richard Nagele Thursday said that there is apparently a "misunderstanding" with the Board of Education in interpreting the negotiations procedures.

Nagele told the LEA Council that he has been informed that the organization has "not fulfilled" the procedure of submitting requests in writing to the school board and superintendent.

"We feel we have," the president said, indicating that a letter had been sent to board members and Supt. John Prasch.

The letter, in addition to affirming LEA support for the procedures for negotiations, outlined a "scope of items for negotiation," including salaries, grievance procedures, fringe benefits, leaves of absences, conditions of employment, inservice education and curriculum.

A mutually convenient meeting date for an "informal meeting to explore the contents of the above mentioned requests" with the board was requests."

Nagele said that the "misunderstanding" apparently is caused by the interpretation of the word "requests" — naming general items for negotiation or submitting exact requests.

"Giving the board written requests in detail ahead of time is like giving the opposition a loaded gun," he declared.

LEA officials are "in the process of writing requests and a rationale in detail," he told the council.

Contacted later, Supt. John Prasch said that no LEA requests had been made to the board and "there can be no negotiation until there are requests.'

Prasch pointed out that the negotiators for the board did have specific requests from the LEA prior to the first negotiations session last year. He explained that the board also presents its requests or counter proposals in writing at the first meeting and needs to have some basis for preparing them.

Watkins Leaving To Become Head Of School District

Dr. Steven N. Watkins, former Lincoln School Superintendent, will leave Lincoln Feb. 1 to assume a new position as superintendent of reorganized school district No. 3 in Andrews County, Missouri.

Dr. Watkins headed the Lincoln system from 1950 through 1967 and has been serving as vice president of the Educators Security Insurance Co. in Lincoln.

The Missouri school is made up of the communities of Amazonia, Colby, Helena and Savannah, and a part of St. Joseph.

The system has an enrollment of 2,400 pupils and a staff of 105 teachers. It is expected to be enlarged under a new state reorganization plan.

Chairman Resigns

NWU Band Heads For Inaugural Parade

Twenty parcels of property totaling $171,550 have been purchased by the City of Lincoln for the Northeast Radial, according to deeds filed with the Lancaster County Register of Deeds office.

Lincoln, Seward Insurance Firms Reach Agreement

Protective Fire & Casualty Co. of Seward, a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Greater Nebraska Corp., has reached a merger agreement in principle with Capital Mutual Insurance Co. of Lincoln, company officials reported Thursday.

The merger will be accomplished through a bulk reinsurance agreement, which has been approved by management and boards of directors of the two companies. The agreement now needs approval from Capital Mutual policyholders and the Nebraska Insurance Department to be effective.

Official Dies

Tokyo (AP) — North Korea's official news agency reported the death of Railway Minister Kim Kap Soon. He was 43.

Fire Inspector Praises Occupants Of Fiery Building For Cooperation

The chief fire inspector of the Lincoln Fire Department said that "cooperation" and "lack of panic" prevented loss of life or serious injuries in the Wednesday night fire which caused extensive damage to an apartment house at 1823 O St.

Inspector DeWayne McIntyre said that there was a tremendous release of heat and poisonous gases from the intense fire that gutted six apartments and resulted in smoke and water damage to the other 13 apartments in the building.

McIntyre said there were no instances of panic among the 24 residents in which people hid under beds or jumped through upper story windows. This is a common cause of death or injury in such fires, he said.

Officials said the fire apparently started in a second-story apartment and quickly spread through the ceiling into the third story and then to the roof.

Firemen rescued eight people who had jumped from third story windows to the roof of an adjacent building.

One man, Ben Skinner, jumped to the adjacent roof and then caught his two children, aged two and three, who were dropped to him by his wife and two unidentified men.

All escaped without serious injury.

Chief McIntyre said that residents knocked on others' doors when the fire was discovered and prevented anyone from being trapped by the blaze.

Officials of the Salvation Army and the Red Cross said Thursday that housing and aid had been supplied to the families who fled the building. Many escaped with only the clothing they were wearing, officials said.

Fire Started

Munich (UPI) — A man hurled a burning gas lantern into the Amerika Haus. It was the second attack on a U.S. cultural center in West Germany in the past month.

Bigger Legislature Is Proposed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Sen. Willard Waldo of DeWitt Thursday proposed a constitutional amendment which would increase the maximum size of the Unicameral to 100 members.

Waldo said an increase in size would make it easier for senators to represent their legislative districts, help ease the current workload and "make it a little harder for special interests to affect legislation."

The bill, LB331, was co-signed by Sen. Herb Duis of Gothenburg.

The constitution now limits membership to 50. There are 49 senators.

"It's much harder to represent five or 10 counties than to represent the same population in a concentrated area," Waldo noted.

Smaller Districts

Increased membership would reduce the size of legislative districts into more concentrated form.

The Legislature's 49 members now have "too much work to do . . . we need more people to help assume the burdens and responsibilities," Waldo told newsmen.

Waldo said he remains convinced that Nebraska's unique non-partisan unicameral system provides the best form of legislature, although he believes there should be annual sessions.

Although he picked the figure of 100 "out of the air," Waldo said, he generally believes it would be "good to have roughly twice as many senators."

Seed Law

Among the 23 other new bills introduced at Thursday's session were measures to enact a comprehensive seed law and a professional corporations act.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton authored LB342, proposing that mobile homes be taxed as housing units.

Sen. William Skarda of Omaha propsed LB336, to reduce the minimum age for jury service from 25 to 18.

Sens. William Hasebroock of West Point and William Swanson of Lincoln sponsored LB335, which would make it unlawful to make false eports of emrgencies or interfere with emergency messages.

Senators Decide To Accept Donation Of Columbus Bust

By Associated Press

It wasn't unanimous, but Nebraska legislators decreed Thursday that the Sons of Italy be allowed to donate a bust of Christopher Columbus to the state, for placement in some niche in the Statehouse.

A 33-6 approving vote was accorded Resolution No. 5, introduced Wednesday by Sens. William R. Skarda Jr., Sam Klaver, Eugene T. Mahoney, all of Omaha.

Mahoney said the bust will be Italian-made.

The Capitol building is the locale of a Nebraska Hall of Fame in which the busts of famed Nebraskans are located. Question was raised as to the propriety of placing busts of non-Nebraskans in statehouse niches and uncertainty in this connection may have prompted some of the "no" votes cast by Sens. Lester Harsh of Bartley, Roland Luedtke amd Harold Simpson of Lincoln, Stan Matzke of Milford, C. F. Moulton of Omaha and J. James Waldron of Callaway.

Approved 43-0 was another resolution, No. 6, calling upon Congress to review its lumber policies on federal lands.

Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland sponsored resolution which notes that declining supplies of lumber, competition from Japanese interests for the purchase of U.S. logs, and increased housing requirements are driving lumber prices upward.

Holmquist said Congress has ignored the pleas of persons concerned about the problem.

No William Tells, But . . .

There will be no William Tell-type events in this weekend's first Nebraskaland Pro-Am Archery Championships, but the arrows flying at 1126½ P Street will be cast with William Tell accuracy.

That's because the event being presented by Lincoln's Prairie Bowmen Archery Club has attracted a field of more than 100 of the Midwest's leading tournament archers for the Saturday and Sunday competition.

The list is led by Jim Ploen of Bloomington, Minn., the reigning international indoor target champion, who is scheduled to shoot at 10 a.m. on Sunday. Other shooting times are set for 12:30 and 3 p.m. Saturday and 12:30 and 3 p.m. on Sunday.

Idea Founded In Detroit

The idea for the tourney was founded in Detroit a year ago while Darlene Wells of the Prairie Bowmen club was attending the international championships in Detroit where Ploen won his title.

"I started wanting to see Lincoln have a tournament like this since we were in Detroit," she explains. "And a lot of us in the club began thinking about it.

"But we all seemed to be afraid to try it. Then last September we decided to go ahead with it and we hope we can make it an annual affair and build it into something very big."

One of the objectives of the tournament is to build interest in archery in Lincoln, Darlene notes.

"We've been trying to get people interested in the sport by offering classes in archery and by promoting a junior program," she points out. "We hope this helps bring attention to the sport and helps make people want to learn to shoot."

The club has both an outdoor and an indoor range available for archery enthusiasts and another series of classes will begin Jan. 28 for those wanting to learn the sport.

Start Them Close

"We start beginners close enough to the target so they don't miss it and that helps build up their morale," Darlene explains. "Then we move them back gradually until they reach the full distance of 20 yards.

"If they are taught properly, they will seldom miss the target." But there's no guarantee every arrow will find the bullseye.

Even the top veterans like Darlene are embarrassed by an errant shot occasionally.

"I had it happen just the other night," she recalls. "I was going to let up just a bit and it got away from me and missed the entire target."

But that isn't likely to happen this weekend with such archers as Ploen, 1967 field champion Stan Warner and perennial top international finisher Ed Rohde in the lineup.

"The difference between the shooters will be very slim," Darlene points out. "The top shooters are very seldom much outside the buslleye area with their 60 arrows."

But there's that one chance they'll miss. That's a very good reason for having no William Tell apple shooting this weekend.

LH-NE Game Highlights Cage Action

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Capital City high school basketball fans are faced with a choice of three games on the slate locally tonight, while the Saturday night schedule is blank.

A Northeast-Lincoln High rematch, following a 53-51 Northeast victory just before Christmas, highlights the action. The intra-city clash is set for Pershing Auditorium.

East High hosts Beatrice in another Friday battle, while Southeast will entertain Grand Island in a Trans-Nebraska tussle at Johnson Gym. Pius X is idle all weekend.

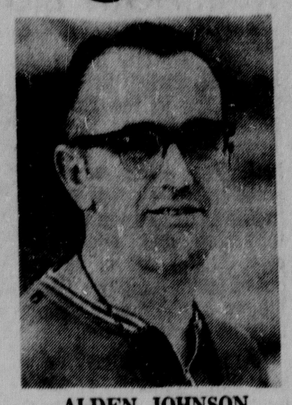

Coach Alden Johnson's Links opened with two straight triumphs, but have been winless in their last four starts. The Red and Black will be attempting to get back on the victory trail at the expense of the defending state champion Rockets.

Northeast, undefeated in five games this year, is still rated the No. 1 team in the state, but coach Ed Johnson is wary about the Links. "It'll be a tough game," he forecast. "Any of the games between the local schools are rough to win," he added, sounding like a man who would settle for another two-pointer.

The two clubs were tied going into the fourth quarter the first time. In the final period the lead changed hands eight times and was tied on two other occasions before the Rockets prevailed.

ED JOHNSON

ALDEN JOHNSON

"I think we're playing better ball now than we were before the holidays," the veteran Northeast mentor said, "although I don't think we accomplished as much during the vacation period as I had hoped. I just want the boys to improve a little each game. That's our aim."

In the first meeting Northeast's John Strain came off the bench to pump in 13 points in the final quarter to pace the win. "John isn't likely to play," Johnson said, "he's been sick and out of school all week."

The Northeast lineup appears solidified after some early season experimentation. Three starters from last year's title team are guards Dan Cook and Tom Novak, with Maury Damkroger at one forward.

Seniors Bill Biggs at the other forward and Harold Hill at the pivot spot round out the starting five.

"Strain has been a reliable front-line reserve," coach Ed remarked, "so we'll miss him, and though Gary Foster hasn't seen much action, he'll probably get the call to help out in that center spot."

Tom Maupin drew praise for his play in the Hastings and Omaha Benson games last weekend, while Chuck Sinclair and Greg Wright provide additional Northeast bench strength.

Only Southeast has a Saturday night encounter. Coach Wally McNaught takes his Knights to Omaha to challenge No. 2 rated Creighton Prep.

LUNN LEADS KAISER GOLF

Sacramento Pro Fires 7-Under Par 65 Round

. . . JACKY CUPIT ONE STROKE BACK

Napa, Calif. (AP)— Young Bob Lunn of Sacramento shot a scorching seven-under par 65 Thursday to lead the way thru the first round of the $135,000 Kaiser International Open Golf tournament.

Playing the par 36-36 Silverado Country Club's north course, the 23-year-old belter made the tour in 34-31-65.

Coming in second with an impressive 66, six under par, was Jacky Cupit, of Dallas, Tex., also playing on the North course. He had a 32 for the first nine and 34 on the second.

The 30-year-old Texan was beaming. He felt that some of his long drives provided an "extra something" for the day's showing.

U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino, Miller Barber and Dave Hill each finished with 68. Trevino played on the North course and Hill and Barber on the South.

Trevino said later he was disgusted with his play at the Los Angeles open last week but determined to take part in the Kaiser — and he was glad he was doing so.

Close on the heels of the leaders with 69 were Arnold Palmer, Jack Montgomery, John McMillen of San Jose, Calif., and Craig Moody, of Kileen, Tex.

The leader, who turned professional in 1963, was delighted with his early showing. He attributed much of his performance to his short game on and near the greens.

Charlie Sifford, top man in last week's Los Angeles open, ended first day action in the Kaiser with two-over-par 74.

The 1968 top pro money winner, Billy Casper, had to settle for a 70. Casper was plagued with after effects of flu. He said he had been bed-ridden for a week.

But he said, "all in all I am very happy. It's hard to play a course the first time and get the right club in your hand."

Friday, Casper plays on Silverado's South course, which he said "I hear is shorter and tricky."

Palmer noted some of his putting problems. "I missed a number of makeable putts" he said.

There were clouds and near freezing weather at the double-course Napa Valley Country Club when play started at mid-morning Thursday. By noon, the sunshine had warmed the air.

EATING FROG—AND CROW

After brashly predicting over a radio station program that Kansas City fans and the Kansas City Chiefs know nothing about football and that the Baltimore Colts would trounce the New York Jets in the Super Bowl game and saying he would eat a frog if the Jets won, Bud Palmer, right of Kirksville, Mo., eats a frog leg served him by Dave Hill of the Chiefs. —REVENGE VICTORY FOR AUBURN—

Millard, Auburn Make Finals In Ak-Sar-Ben

By VIRGIL PARKER
Star Sports Writer

Ralston — Underdogs Millard and Auburn surprised the favorites in the semifinals of the Ak-Sar-Ben Conference Tournament here Thursday night.

Millard ran away from host Ralston in registering a 72-52 triumph, while Auburn also built up a 20-point lead, then held off an aroused Syracuse five for a convincing 76-62 win.

The Millard-Ralston opener was a see-saw affair until just over two minutes remained in the first half. Then a sudden spurt by the winners gave Millard a 35-29 halftime advantage.

Midway through the third stanza, Ralston hit a dry spell which lasted long enough for Millard to rattle off 12 straight points and take a commanding 54-39 lead. From there on it was all downhill.

Auburn, loser to Syracuse in the Twin Rivers Tourney, trailed 16-13 at the end of the first quarter but held the losers to just three field goals in the second period. By scoring 10 consecutive points in one stretch, Auburn snared a slim 36-30 halftime lead.

Then the winners really went to work. With 6-7 Jim Beatty controlling the boards at both ends of the floor Auburn zoomed to a 55-35 bulge, outscoring Syracuse 19-5 during the six-minute burst.

Syracuse put on a futile comeback drive which closed the gap to just 10 points on three occasions but Auburn pulled away to have 14 points to spare at the end.

The losers tangle tonight at 6:30 for third place while Auburn and Millard battle for the league crown at 8:15.

Prison Walls For Higgins

Angola, La. (AP) — Michael "Pinky" Higgins, former manager of the Boston Red Sox, began serving a four-year prison sentence at the state penitentiary today for negligent homicide.

Higgins, 59, pleaded guilty to the charge in connection with an auto accident in which one man was killed and several injured on Feb. 27, 1968.

Higgins, who played 13 seasons in the American League with Philadelphia, Boston, and Detroit, was a scout for the Houston Astros at the time of the accident.

His auto went out of control and crashed into a state highway department crew which was working on the pavement. George Killen of Simsboro, La. was killed.

Maravich Tops NCAA List With 45.5 Mark

New York (AP) — Pete Maravich, Louisiana State junior, leads the major college basketball scorers with 501 points and a 45.5 a game average, reports the National College Sports Services. The records include games of Jan. 11.

The son of LSU coach Press Maravich is ahead of his NCAA record of last season when he averaged 43.8 points a game on 1,138 points.

The wildcats, winning their seventh straight game, saw a 38-29 halftime lead shaved 52-51 but pulled away steadily in the final minutes to gain the victory.

Arizona received balanced scoring with four players winding up in double figures. Bill Warner led the Wildcats with 17 points. 13 of them in the second half.

Creighton's Wally Anderzunas took game scoring honors with 26 points, which pushed him to a career total of 1,002. Bob Portman had 17 which brought his career total to 1,612, second highest in Creighton history.

The loss was the 10th against 6 wins for Creighton. Arizona is now 11-5.

Namath, Hadl Can't Say Enough About Other's Assets

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP) — "Joe Namath is tre best quarterback in football." "John Hadl is the best quarterback in the American League."

Thus did the opposing starting quarterbacks size each other up Thursday as the 33-man squads representing the two divisions of the AFL brushed up on defensive plays for the circuit's All-Star game in the Gator Bowl.

"Joe proved he was the best quarterback in guiding the New York Jets to treir 16-7 victory over Baltimore in last Sunday's Super Bowl," said Hadl of the San Diego Chargers, starting quarterback for the West coached by Hank Stram of the Kansas City Chiefs.

"He not only is a great passer but he is a master at sizing up the defense and, what many overlook, has unusual physical ability to stand up under a rough, tough game," said Hadl. "He called a perfect game against the Colts."

"I said before the Super Bowl game that Hadl is a better quarterback than Earl Morrall," said Namath as he came off the field after a short workout by the East squad in command of Wally Lemm of the Houston Oilers.

"And I'll say the same again plus the opening he is the best in our league."

Broadway Joe didn't even say, "present company excepted."

Namath, in his fourth year of pro ball, and Hadl, playing in his seventh season, have one thing in common. They are tied for second place behind Oakland's George Blanda in most games in which they passed 300 or more yards. The figure is 13. Blanda, whose role now is limited to place kicking, is No. 1 with 15.

Hadl led the AFL last season in touchdown passes with 27. He also had the most completions with 208 out of 440 attempts. Namath tossed for only 15 touchdowns but his percentage of completions, with 187 out of 380, was higher than that of the San Diego ace. Namath had a 49.2 per cent in completions and Hadl 47.3.

The other two quarterbacks, veteran Len Dawson of Kansas City and Bob Griese of Miami, also were loud in their praise of Namath.

"I would rate Namath and Johnny Unitas of the Colts as the best in the sport," said Griese.

"Namath lacks only one thing," said Dawson. "Because of his knee operations, he is unable to run with the ball. In all other phases he has got to be No. 1. He has all the tools. He has the ability to throw off balance with authority, is a fine judge of the defense and is tough. If he could just run."

During the workout on the baseball field, hard by the Gator Bowl, coach Lemm said Criese would handle the punting for the East. The former Purdue quarterback remained on the field for a lengthy workout after the other players had departed.

"After all I haven't done any punting since my college days," said Griese as he boomed kicks of 45 and more yards.

Stram announced that Hadl had been named the offensive captain and Jerry Mays of Kansas City the defensive captain for the west. Lemm said the East's captains would not be selected until Saturday.

With the weatherman predicting clear weather fir Sunday, the game is expected to attract a crowd of more than 40,000. It will be televised by NBC starting at 12:30 p.m., CST. game time is 1 p.m.

"The presence of 11 members of the world champion Jets has created a new interest in the game," said Milt Woodward, president of the AFL. "And of course the name Joe Namath is magic."

Namath did nothing to hurt his image as he graciously paused to sign autographs sought by scores of fans.

"It is just great to be here," said Joe. "During the season one doesn't get much chance to greet players on the other teams. I love it."

New World Awaits Grier

. . . PRO GRID STAR MAKING IT BIG AS ENTERTAINER

By ARTHUR DALEY

New York — That mountain of amiability, Roosevelt Grier, hove into view, looking slightly larger than life. At 290 pounds and six-feet-five he has to be the biggest guitar-strumming folk-singer in the entertainment business. He bubbles over with such good nature that it's difficult to reconcile the fact that he once was a defensive tackle of such ferocity that he regularly made the all-pro team for the New York Giants and later for the Los Angeles Rams.

Rosey's skills as an entertainer were on public display Thursday night when he appeared on television as a member of Bob Hope's troupe that toured Vietnam. He has cut a record for Bell Records with two engaging tunes, "Bad News" and "Ring Around the World." He just completed a movie in Mexico, "Jaquin Murietta." It stars Ricardo Montalban.

"The part I play," said Rosey, trying to repress a laugh but not succeeding, "is that of a colored man. How do you like that for casting? I'm on the borderline between being a good buy and a bad guy until the hero straightens me out. He's a sort of Robin Hood.

"It was a fun thing and I learned a lot about myself. I guess I'll always be learning. One lesson was taught me by a little Mexican girl. She came on the set one day, selling tortillas. I asked her what she'd do if I bought them all. She told the interpreter that she'd give them to her friends. So I bought the bucket of tortillas.

"Then I noticed that she was limping from a cut that had become infected and I took her to our doctor. He had not anesthesia and said it would be very painful if he were to clean the wound. 'I won't cry,' she said. I held her hand and she didn't cry. The next day she came back with her father and mother. They had a bucket of chicken that I knew they couldn't afford to give me. That's how poor they were. So I gave the chicken to another family that had no food at all.

"I never saw poverty like the poverty there. It made me think how much better off we are in the United States and what a wonderful country this really is. I know it's far from perfect but if people would search deeply enough within themselves we can live in harmony.

"John F. Kennedy said it best when he said we should not see what our country can do for us but what we can do for our country. Each person should try to do a little more. We can't survive as we are. I'm no militant. I'm a human being, interested in white, black, blue, green or whatever. I'm in favor of brotherly love. A lot of militants got mad because I aligned myself with the Kennedys but they stood for what I stand for. Bobby Kennedy was a tremendous man. If you don't mind, I won't say any more about him."

Rosey, along with Rafer Johnson, apprehended and disarmed Bobby Kennedy's accused assassin. Since he will testify at the trial of Sirhan Sirhan, his reluctance was understandable.

"I thought the end of the world had come," said Rosey, skillfully reversing his field, "when the Giants traded me to the Rams in 1963. But it was the best break I ever could have had. The whole world of show business opened up to me and I've been in movies, television and everything else. At the age of 36 and out of football for two years I have a whole new career in front of me.

"Am I a good actor? Let's say I'm capable. I don't fear it. Once you're past fear, your percentage of succeeding moves up. I worked hard to improve and I go at it full tilt because it's all new to me. My main fault as a football player was that if the guy opposite me wasn't very good, I wasn't very good either. But if he was good, I was great."

That was one reason the Giants traded him. He didn't have the even performance level of Andy Robustelli, Dick Modzelewski and Jim Katcavage. But he soon fitted in perfectly at Los Angeles with Lamar Lundy, Deacon Jones and Merle Olsen, as formidable a front four as there was in the business. The Giants not only missed his muscle on the field but his bubbling personality in the locker room.

One day before a game with the Eagles, the Giants had a listless, dreadful practice session. And undiplomatic new scout had brought back a downgrading report on Philadelphia's personnel, a report that the sports pages printed. Jim Lee Howell, the coach, knew it would be posted on the Eagles' bulletin board and he sensed that his Giants also had accepted it too literally.

"You fellows are going to lose this game if you don't perk up," he screamed. "It's up to you. What are we going to do about it? What can we do about it?"

"Maybe we could write them a letter of apology," said the droll Rosey.

Rosey delighted the servicemen in Vietnam.

"It was the experience of a lifetime," said Rosey of his trip. "And Bob Hope? What a man! What a man! I even insisted on going out with a jeep patrol. I was a little nervous. But I had to go."

Quite a man also is Rosey Grier. And a rather remarkable human being, too.

Girl Jockeys Getting Closer

Arcadia, Calif. (AP) — Girl riders rode into the limelight again at Santa Anita Thursday, and one passed her initial tests in a bid for a jockey license. The boy jockeys viewed the prospects with mixed feelings.

Sandy Schleiffers, 22, made history of sorts when she not only successfully broke her mount, Chocolate Sundae, on top from the gate, but went on to finish first in a simulated 6-furlong run in 1.13 2-5.

Sandy, as required, did it against licensed riders, including Bill Mahorney and Larry Pierce, younger brother of riding star Don Pierce.

"She came out of the gate nice," Mahorney, an anti-lady critic said. He regarded the run as merely a routine workout.

The test run was filmed for further study by Santa Anita stewards.

The male jockey colony held a private meeting Wednesday night and six declared they would not oppose licensing girls if they meet all the requirements.

They were Bill Hartack, Johnny Sellers, Laffit Pincay, Jr., Howard Grant, Wayne Harris and Bill Harmatz.

A seventh, Bill Shoemaker, favors giving them a chance, but is skeptical girls could make a go in his profession.

About 40 others at the meeting were either in direct opposition or on the border line.

Sellers had some reservations.

He proposed, not too facetiously, that if the gals are to ride, they must go through all the routines of a man rider — including use of the jockeys' dressing quarters.

"I don't mean they have to strip in front of us," Sellers explained. "They can bring partitions, draperies, anything they want.

"But they have to use the same facilities we do and have to observe all the same rules and regulations we do if they are going to ride against us. That's the only way we'll do it."

Santa Anita has quietly been remodeling a room near the jockeys quarters, ostensibly for use by the several women who have licenses to exercise horses.

In this vein, Mahorney said, "It's one thing to ride horses in the morning and another to ride them in races. Horses know the difference.

"I don't know any women who are capable and I'd hate to have to ride against them to prove it."

NCAA Keeps Unlimited Substitution

Palm Springs, Calif. (AP) — Unlimited substitution will again be the rule in college football next season.

However, the NCAA football rules committee took note of the increasing costs of the big squads needed as it ended its meeting Wednesday.

A fact-finding commission was established to survey the cost factors of college athletic programs.

The committee left the rules untouched except for minor changes, and authorized sub-committees to look into these matters:

—Clarification of pass interference and intentional grounding.

—A clearer definition of clipping and the back-back block.

—Better definition of forward pass completions in relation to the sideline, goal line and end line.

"—It was obvious from the outset that the individual members of the committee have no inclination to propose major changes," said committee chairman John Waldorf, supervisor of Big-8 officials.

"The feeling now is to study carefully any proposed alterations for at least a year in advance."

Now Easier To Hit HRs In Atlanta

Atlanta, Ga. (AP) — Following a trend to give hitters more of a break, the Atlanta baseball club announced Thursday it will shorten the power alleys in the Braves' park for the 1969 season.

President William C. Bartholomay told stockholders at the annual meeting with the fences will be moved in from 385 to 375 feet from home plate in the area between centerfield and the foul posts.

In dead center, the six-foot fence will be moved in by two feet to 400, while the 330-foot distance to the foul poles will remain the same.

Earlier, the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Philadelphia Phillies, also of the National League, and Chicago of the American League had announced they were reducing the distance to home run territory.

The moves came after a season in which the pitchers held perhaps their greatest edge ever over the hitters and batting averages plummeted in the major leagues.

"This is only a temporary move," Bartholomay said. "Our long-range plan is to adjust the playing field and use the natural concrete walls as fences. That would not only retain the excitement of a home run, but also add the excitement of line drives caroming off the walls.

"Such an adjustment could be accomplished by redesigning the field and moving it slightly towards centerfield," he said.

"Of course, we also think the present adjustment of the fences will contribute to the improvement of hitting and put more excitement into games at the stadium."

During the 1968 season, 85 home runs were hit out of Atlanta Stadium, 43 by the Braves.

Player Strike To Cut Hopes?

Detroit (AP) — Outfielder Jim Northrup said Thursday that a possible players strike would dimish the Detroit Tigers' chances of winning the American League pennant this year.

"What I'm really afraid of," said Northrup, "is that a players' strike will hurt the Tigers' chances to repeat as American League champions this year.

"Say even four or five key players hold out with the players association. What if Mickey Lolich, Al Kaline, Bill Freehan and myself, for instance, don't go to spring training. That could foul things up pretty good, right?" he said.

Lolich, Freehan and Willie Horton say they won't go to Florida until the pension dispute is settled. The major league Players Association agreed to a boycott early this winter to back up demands that club owners contribute more money to its pension fund.

Only three Detroit players have signed 1969 contracts. They are Mickey Stanley, Denny McLain and Dick McAuliffe. McLain, however, says he won't honor his contract until the dispute is settled.

"I hope this strike doesn't happen," said manager Mayo Smith.

The Tigers are scheduled to begin spring training at Lakeland on Feb. 22.

Outfielder Al Kaline and pitcher Joe Sparma said they would go to Florida in early February. But they added they wouldn't check in at Lakeland.

Outfielder Willie Horton, who appears unusually trim, said "Who knows when I'll get to Florida? I may just show up at the stadium on opening day if this thing isn't settled before then."

Northrup predicted that negotiations between the association and club owners would be difficult.

"The pro football players struck last fall," he added. "And the owners said they'd play rookies if the veterans didn't show up. Can you imagine the television networks showing some triple A teams if they couldn't get major league baseball?

"Our owners better think again," he said.

All good things must come to an end.

Volkswagens die. Like everything else.

Only some people don't believe it.

Take Mrs. Carson Brooks of Oxford, Alabama. So far her '59 has gone over 600,000 miles. And that's with only two engine transplants.

Try telling her the end is near and she'll laugh you right off the farm.

That kind of owner loyalty begins at the VW factory where 100% of production time is spent making our little bug work better and 0% is spent making it look better (see ugly picture above).

It's the only car that's put through 15,397 inspections before it's put up for sale.

It won't give you radiator problems because we never gave it a radiator.

It comes fully equipped with 35 pounds of paint to protect its top and a protective steel bottom to protect its bottom.

So when you see one that looks on its last legs, feel no pity.

It's probably led a healthier life than you have.

Dispute Delays Sirhan Trial

Los Angeles (AP) — The judge in the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan murder trial withheld an immediate ruling Thursday on a prosecution attempt to dismiss a prospective juror who opposes the death penalty.

Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker didn't say when he would make his decision on what has become the hottest argument so far at the trial of the 24-year-old Jordanian accused of the slaying last June of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Meanwhile, five men and six women had been tentatively seated as prospective jurors.

Any Crime

Mrs. Alvina Alvidrez, a harware store employe, said Wednesday she couldn't vote a death penalty "for any crime under any circumstances."

The prosecution sought to have her dismissed. The defense argued against dismissal, saying it would like to have her for at least the guilt-innocence phase of the trial.

In California there are separate trials in capital cases for determination of guilt or innocence, and for fixing the penalty.

Dep. Dist. Atty. John E. Howard argued that he did not believe it was "required by law to continue with a juror who has said she would under no circumstances impose the death penalty."

Question

Grant B. Cooper, chief defense counsel, countered: "I do not feel that the question facing this court has been decided by any other court."

Cooper cited the Witherspoon ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court. He said it held that juries from which opponents of the death penalty are excluded "cannot be called fair and impartial but are rather hanging juries."

Howard said that the Witherspoon case did not involve the right of the prosecution to challenge a prospective juror for cause, or the right of the state to exclude from the jury persons opposed to capital punishment.

Filibuster Not Crippled

Washington (UPI) — Overruling a decision by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Senate Thursday defeated a move by liberals to cripple the filibuster, which was defended as essential to the incoming Republican administration.

By a 53-45 vote, it rejected Humphrey's ruling that only a simple majority vote was needed to shut off debate at the beginning of a session when the Senate was considering its own rules.

Nebraska GOP Sens. Carl T. Curtis and Roman L. Hruska voted against ending debate.

Hair Flying

His arms waving and hair flying, Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said the administration of President-elect Nixon might need the filibuster to deal with the Democratic majority in the Senate.

"How are we going to get Nixon on track by gagging ourselves?" Dirksen asked.

Humphrey's ruling came in connection with debate on a proposed resolution by Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and James B. Pearson, R-Kan., to change the rule requiring a two-thirds vote to invoke cloture, or shut off debate and end a filibuster. Their resolution would have required only a three-fifths majority.

The Senate had voted 51 to 47 to end debate and vote on the resolution. Curtis and Hruska voted with the majority.

In the past, presiding officers in the Senate have ruled this required a two-thirds vote, but Humphrey went against tradition and said the simple 51-47 majority was enough and that cloture was in force.

Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., appealed and was upheld 53 to 45, with Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield voting against Humphrey.

Crew Is Praised For Aiding Victim Of Heart Attack

The Lincoln Electric System has received a letter commending a line crew which administered first aid to a man who suffered a heart attack last December.

The letter from the R. W. Johnson family of Roca commended Gene Thompson and his crew for administering oxygen from a welding tank to Johnson and for calling for an ambulance over the company's shortwave radio.

The crew was repairing storm damage near Roca during the heavy snowfall Dec. 18 when Johnson suffered the attack while on his farm.

The letter said Johnson was recovering from the attack.

Human Rights Unit Chairman Says NAACP Has Mandate

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) in Lincoln has "the potential and the mandate to be the spokesman for the black community," according to Gary Hill, chairman of the Mayor's Human Rights Commission.

Speaking at the group's monthly meeting Thursday evening, Hill questioned the effectiveness of the NAACP in confronting problems in Lincoln.

Why do white people join the organization other than to ease their conscience?, he asked. What do the black members do?

Why hasn't the group helped any black lawyers or doctors establish practices in the city? Why do the young professionals think they cannot survive in Lincoln?, he asked the group.

Pressure

Overcoming the problems "doesn't take vast numbers or marches or demonstrations, but it takes pressure in the right places," he said.

"Concerned people should be applying pressure for black members to get into private organizations or lodges," he said.

A Negro man with two college degrees applied at a Lincoln bank for a position and was offered a janitor's job, Hill said. The color of skin in Lincoln makes a "tremendous difference" in the type of profession a person engages in, he said.

Why hasn't a black man run for the city council? he asked.

'City Ripe'

He suggested that the NAACP should take the initiative to make people advance. "The city is ripe," he said.

Dr. Patrick Wells, president of the NAACP for the past two years, replied that the organization has not been able to reach the "nucleus of the black community."

He mentioned some action the group took in a incident last summer involving a disruption at a dance and in working for the minimum housing code, but NAACP must have more action by the black people, he said.

New Officers

The officers for 1969 were installed at the meeting.

Officers are Mrs. Robert Letcher, president; Otha Wade, first vice president; Mrs. Hugh Bullock, second vice president; Mrs. John Miller, secretary; Mrs. Dennis Sailors, assistant secretary and Dr. A. Stuart Hall, treasurer.

Mrs. Letcher announced that a Martin Luther King Jr. Fellowship is available through the American Legion for Negro veterans in graduate school.

The grant pays the student's tuition plus a stipend of $400 per month.

Any field of study leading to a career in public work qualifies, she said.

Sweden Offers Apology To U.S.

Stockholm (UPI) — The Swedish government announced Thursday it has apologized to the United States for a television program in which a Swedish newsman used an American flag as a doormat.

The program was broadcast over the state-owned television network on Jan. 4. The United States protested, and the Swedish foreign ministry expressed its "sincere regrets on this deplorable incident."

RAPID READER

Pretty, mini-skirted Virginia Hofford, who will be 13 next month, is Great Britain's fastest young reader — capable of digesting a thousand words a minute.

United Methodist Magazine Salutes Martha Aldrich, 108

Brock — "Aunt Martha" Aldrich of Brock, who observes her 109th birthday anniversary on January 28, is saluted in the February issue of the United Methodist general-interest magazine Together.

Lots of young adults today cannot recall a time when there was no television, while even some oldsters cannot remember when there was no radio. In contrast, Mrs. Aldrich can tell about how life was before there was a telephone! She was 19 when Thomas Edison invented the electric light, which she considers the outstanding invention. She went on her first plane ride when she was 99.

MRS. MARTHA ALDRICH

109th Birthday January 28

Mrs. Aldrich, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Dougherty, was born in Indiana. She came to Nebraska when her father, J. M. Campbell, opened the Brock General Store in 1871.

She also has a son, Campbell Aldrich, who resides in Auburn. She is the widow of Karl Aldrich.

Until four years ago, she attended worship services regularly in the Brock United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Aldrich made a special point of voting in the election last fall.

Mrs. Aldrich is the oldest ex-coed of Peru State College, and is the oldest member of both the W.C.T.U. and Eastern Star in Nebraska.

Unlike the majority of centenarians, Mrs. Aldrich offers no prescription for a long and vigorous life. She says simply, "I'm here because God willed it."

Dr. Poppendieck Offers Ideas On Ed Act Planning

Dr. Walter Poppendieck of the U.S. Office of Education in Washington, D.C., Thursday gave Nebraskans some suggestions for planning for the Education Professions Development Act.

Poppendieck, director of field services in connection with the 1967 act, told members of the Nebraska Council on Teacher Education that the intention of the program is to "improve the quality of people who serve education."

The effect of the federal funds offered to states, institutions of higher education and school districts under the act should be to translate educational research to classroom practice, he said.

The council will conclude its meeting Friday with committee sessions and a business meeting.

Ike Progressing Following Series Of Heart Attacks

Washington (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower continues to show steady but slow progress in his hospitalized recovery from the latest in a series of seven heart attacks.

That was the report Thursday from Walter Reed Army Hospital where he has been a patient since May 14. He had suffered his fourth heart attack. He has had three more in the hospital, the most recent Aug. 16.

Spokesmen for Walter Reed said, "His morale is excellent and he maintains an avid interest in current events."

Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, his wife, has recovered from a respiratory infection and is staying at the Eisenhower farm in Gettysburg, Pa. She makes visits to her husband's bedside.

It said there were 99 return passages.

The ships included military transports, destroyers, hydrological vessels, minesweepers and cruisers.

He was a life member of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce and Shrine Crippled Children's Hospital, a 50-year member of Lincoln Lodge No. 19 AF&AM and a member of the Nebraska Alumni Association, Scottish Rite, Shrine, Rotary and Izaak Walton League.

Mr. Friend was a former auxiliary fire chief for the Lincoln-Lancaster County Civil Defense.

Kingman Leaving Joslyn Museum

Omaha — Eugene Kingman, director of the Joslyn Art Museum since 1947, has resigned, according to the Joslyn Board of Trustees.

Kingman will stay on the job until June 1, "or until a successor is found," the announcement said.

The 59-year-old Kingman said his main reason for resigning is that "I feel I've gone as far as I can in the creative development of Joslyn." He said he wants to devote more time to his own creative work as an artist and design consultant on museum exhibits.

Stock Mart Posts Substantial Gain

New York (AP) — Progress toward serious Vietnam peace talks sent the stock market Thursday to one of its best gains in recent weeks.

The market reacted quickly to news that procedural questions, which had balked the Paris discussions, had been resolved.

Prices vaulted at the opening and reached their peak in the first hour of trading. They slipped around midday, then moved up in the final hour.

Brokers said that in addition to the optimism engendered by the peace developments, the sharp rise by personal income to an all-time high in December was a favorable market factor.

The advance extended the market's rally through the third consecutive session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed with a gain of 6.84 at 938.59. Its high market for the session was at 10 a.m. when the advance was 7.58. The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 2.0 to 351.7 with industrials up 2.3, rails up 1.7 and utilities up 0.7.

The New York Stock Exchange composite index moved up 0.31 to 57.81.

Trading volume climbed to 13.12 million shares from 11.81 million Wednesday.

Loew's Theatres, off 1⅝ at 50½ on 354,900 shares, was the most-active stock. Loew's had said earlier that it had taken a substantial position in Goodyear stock. Goodyear officials said they would oppose any takeover move.

Benguet, a Philippine gold-mining company, advanced 2⅛ to 14½, apparently in reaction to rising gold prices in London. It was the second most-active stock on 292,800 shares.

Grumman continued to advance on the basis of its selection by the Navy as prime contractor for the new supersonic F14A fighter plane. It gained 1⅜ at 44⅛.

Burroughs closed with a gain of 2 to 235⅛ after directors of the company had announced a 2-for-1 stock split and increased the cash dividend.

Aluminums extended their gains, following increases in prices for the metal. Advances included Alcan ⅝ to 29, Alcoa ½ to 77, and Reynolds Metals 1⅝ to 45⅛.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Volume slipped to 6.7 million shares from 6.93 million Wednesday.

Hog Prices Rise Again At Omaha

Omaha (AP) — Hog prices went up again Thursday at Omaha in a continuation of what has been a mild but pleasant surprise to most Omaha patrons.

Prices shot 25 to mostly 50 cents higher on the latest session bringing the current week's upturn to $1 to $1.50 through the first four days.

The bulk price range on 190-240 lb. butchers was $20.25 to $21.00 Thursday.

A year ago the comparable week recorded a bulk range of $18.25 to $19.25, with a top for the week at $19.50.

Most market observers are puzzled by the turn of events. Prices the first part of this year were expected to average no higher than the 1968 levels, and quite probably to range under the year ago figures. This was based on the increased farrowings and the increased number of pigs on farms and in the near market ready weight breakdowns.

In actuality, the receipts at Omaha thus far this week have been only slightly ahead of a year ago, about two thousand head.

OPPD Selects Edward Miller

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Public Power District elected Edward Miller Sr. president Thursday. He won over M. M. Meyers who has been a member of the board since 1956 and president since May, 1968. Miller has served on the board since August, 1968.

Other officers include Richard T. Dugdale of Omaha, first vice president, and Richard Sievers of Fort Calhoun, second vice president. Edward Zorinsky of Omaha is secretary.

Grain Dealers Are Cautious

Chicago (AP) — Grain dealers were besieged Thursday with a variety of developments that prompted them to adopt a cautious trading attitude.

As a result, prices on the Chicago Board of Trade were mixed. Wheat closed unchanged to ½ cent lower. March traded at $1.35¾. Corn prices finished unchanged to up ½ cent, March closing at $1.18¼.

Oats prices rose ¼ to ¾ cent a bushel and in soybean trading market gained ⅞ cent with the March contract closing unchanged at $2.60¾ a bushel.

There were no new developments in the 28-day-old U.S. Atlantic and Gulf Port dock strike.

Grain traders received news of increased competition from foreign producers to sell grain in the world market.

For the first time in many months, numerous nations appeared on the same day to make sales of wheat and corn as well as barley.

The principal competitor appeared to be France. It was understood France was negotiating to sell Russia 4 million bushels of corn with some sales already made.

Italy bought 3 million bushels of corn from Argentina at $47 a ton basis Argentine ports. Exporters said U.S. corn was priced at $51.25 a ton at U.S. golf ports.

Japan on Friday will be in the market for 6,000,000 bushels of U.S. wheat for shipment out of the Pacific Coast. Japan reserved ila differences with the United States over grain which arrived late last year and sprouted conditions.

It was on the basis that Japan is coming back to the U.S. market but exporters are doubtful that any sales will be made because the Japanese have imposed strict restrictions on grading requirements.

Commission house dealers, mostly speculators, bought corn and soybean contracts. Receipts of grain at major terminals were small because inclement weather in some sections of the country hindered movement.

Scientists Create Artificial Enzyme

New York (AP) — Scientists have artificially created the key chemical that controls all of life — an enzyme. The feat fulfills an old dream of chemists and biologists.

Without enzymes, nothing can live. They control all the biochemical reactions of all living things — man, germs, trees, fish. Digestion, breathing, heart pumping, nerve impulses, formation of body tissues, energy to move muscles, all depend on enzymes.

A single body cell contains up to 100,000 enzymes, each directing a specific reaction, each coming into play at the right time and place.

Creation of an enzyme in the laboratory opens exciting prospects, scientists said Thursday. More can be learned about how enzymes do their fantastic work, in only thousandths of a second. Special enzymes might be man-made to do new chemical tasks.

New Drugs

Enzymes might be fashioned into potent new drugs. Already one enzyme shows promise in treating some cases of leukemia in children. Another shows signs of being able to prevent tooth decay.

Success in making an enzyme was announced Thursday at Rockefeller University by two teams of chemists — Drs. Robert Bruce Merrifield and Bernd Gutte of Rockefeller, and Drs. Robert G. Denkewalter and Ralph F. Hirschmann of Merck Sharp & Dohme Research Laboratories at Rahway, N.J.

Working independently, using entirely different approaches, both groups reached their goal at about the same time. Their technical reports are carried in the current issue of the Journal of the American Chemical Society.

Both made the enzyme ribonuclease. It plays a role in digestion, by breaking down one key substance, RNA, in the nuclei of cells. All cells in foodstuffs must be split into simpler components, for use or discard by the body.

Amino Acids

Like all enzymes, ribonuclease is a protein, which means it consists of sub-units, amino acids, put together in a specific, orderly arrangement or chain. More than that, what an enzyme does also depends upon its three-dimensional shape, how the chain is folded. Ribonuclease is composed of 124 units or amino acids.

The proof that the chemists had put the chain together precisely correctly was that their enzymes would break down RNA but not other substances in a cell.

Taking a "gaze into the tea leaves in my beaker," Dr. Hirschmann said at a news conference, this first basic step might in time lead to better drugs through greater knowledge of drug-enzyme interactions, as well as to special man-made enzymes, and a better fundamental understanding of enzyme actions.

Plastic Material

Drs. Merrifield and Gutte of Rockefeller made their enzyme, whose structure had been determined earlier by other scientists, by using a bead of a plastic material to act as an anchor on which units were added, one by one, to form the complete chain. The bead was later removed.

A special machine automatically carried out 369 chemical reactions and 11,931 steps, over three weeks time, to make the enzyme. It would have taken one man several years to do the same thing. Once the chain was formed, it was allowed to stand in a solution, where it folded itself into the proper shape.

Drs. Denkewalter and Hirschmann used a special chemical method, which they had developed, to prepare fragments of the enzyme, and then assemble them into a whole and active enzyme.

Their method, which took five years to develop fully, makes it possible to prepare rapidly fragments containing six to 17 amino acid units.

Higher Fares For Airlines Are Sought

Washington (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board announced Thursday it has made a "tentative determination" to approve increases in domestic passenger fares for the nation's commercial airlines.

They would amount to an increase of $3 for a one-way, first class flight of any distance, for example, and coach fares in flights up to 500 miles would be increased by $2 one-way, as another example.

The CAB made the announcement after conferring with six airlines that had made proposals for increases ranging from five to seven per cent. But the board said it considered increases in the five to seven per cent range to be "not warranted at this time."

The board said that the increases tentatively approved would provide "additional passenger revenue of 3.8% above what would have been realized under fares existing in 1968 on domestic operations of the 11 domestic trunk lines."

A board spokesman said that passenger revenue for 1968 was $5.1 billion. The CAB, in saying that its determination to allow a fare increase is still tentative, said that any final approval would be based on "careful analysis of tariffs" to be filed by the airlines.

The board said that it was expected that new fares could go into effect on March 1, assuming there is final approval.

Compromise Affords Public Louder Voice In Road Plans

Washington — A compromise version of proposed new procedures for the location and design of highways went into effect Thursday after nearly three months of controversy.

The Federal Highway Administration issued a "policy and procedure memorandum" for the avowed purpose of giving the public a stronger voice in determining the routes and characteristics of federally aided roads — particularly freeways and expressways in cities.

A new controversy arose over whether such a purpose would actually be achieved. Spokesman for some urban and conservationist interests expressed strong doubt because of concessions made in response to criticism of the procedures as originally proposed.

The original proposal was published last October by Federal Highway Administrator Lowell K. Bridwell at the request of Transportation Secretary Alan S. Boyd.

It called for a formal regulation prescribing detailed rules for two-stage public hearings by state highway departments and establishing machinery for appealing location and design decisions to the federal highway administrator by "any interested person."

The provision for appeals was omitted from the final version. So was a requirement that highway departments consider alternative methods of transportation, such as subways and buses, at hearings on the location of proposed highways.

These omissions, together with the issuance of a memorandum instead of a formal regulation, satisfied the main objections of governors, state highway commissioners, the road-building industry and others who had fought the original version of the proposed procedures.

4 Are Presented Medal Of Honor

Washington (UPI) — President Johnson Thursday presented the Medal of Honor to four U.S. servicemen — two of them from the same small town in Georgia — and said throughout his presidency the military had never let him down.

Johnson said the ceremony would be the last time in his presidency that the East Room of the White House would be "graced with the company of heroes who have scaled the heights in this land."

The awards went to Army Staff Sgt. Drew D. Dix, 44, of Pueblo, Colo.; Navy Lt. Clyde E. Lassen, 26, a pilot from Fort Meyers, Fla., and Marine Maj. Stephen W. Pless, 30, and Air Force Lt. Col. Joe M. Jackson, 46 both from Newnan, Ga., which is about 40 miles southwest of Atlanta.

Foolish Practice

Little Rock, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas House of Representatives approved 87 to 2 a bill to repeal the state law that requires blood for transfusions to be labeled by race. The bill goes to the Senate. The law, adopted in 1959, required the labeling practice, which a medical group last year termed "scientifically foolish."

POSTCARD by Stan Kleinplatz

Brisk ways around the family scatter. (Easy monthly installments—forever.)

We sprang a leak. I put my thumb in it — the Dutch boy thing — and called the plumber.

"The whole plumbing sytem was put in badly," he said. "I'll have to go in through the wall." He shook his head sadly — the $100 shake.

☆ ☆ ☆

We would never know about these leaks if it hadn't been for the mice. Some time ago, a gang of field mice got under the house. They would appear suddenly in the kitchen. Everybody screaming eeeeekkk!

I found they were shinnying up the sink pipe.

I plugged it with steel wool. ("That boy's got a head on him," said grandma.)

The mice began climbing the pipe of the dishwasher. I couldn't get behind that.

It drove the Siamese cat wild. They would appear two or three at a time, and she couldn't figure which one to jump.

I called a pest control man.

The first thing he said was, "You've got quite a leak under the house."

The pest control man comes every month. He doesn't find mice. But man, does he find leaks!

Thus we know when the ship is sinking. All hands to the boats! Abandon ship! We owe it all to the field mice.

("Every cloud has a silver lining," said grandma, "but wear your rubbers.")

These are tense days. Up in Connecticut, a mother could not stand her son's long hair a minute longer.

"Don't cut his hair," said her husband. "It's only a fad."

However, she did cut his hair. Her irate husband then chased her down the street. Caught her. Pinned her to the ground and cut off her hair.

I imagine between leaks and house payments he was pretty tensed up himself. So he sheared her. Nothing like letting off steam.

The women's magazines are full of advice on adjustments to life. How To Help Him Keep His Job. How To Hold The Marriage Together.

I never saw anything about haircutting as a tranquilizer.

Most ladies' magazines advise: "It is important to know his moods . . ."

The shorn lady in Connecticut obviously hadn't figured that cat's moods. But now she knows. Short-haired but wiser.

☆ ☆ ☆

I am a moody bloke and well known for it. "Don't bother your father now. He's in a good mood?

The moppets say: "Can I ask you something? Are you in a good moood? '

Between moods and mice we are staying afloat.

☆ ☆ ☆

"I've done the best I can for it," said the plumber. "But I can't guarantee how long it will last." (I can say that about myself.)

I can tell you. It will last until the pest control man comes next month and goes under the house.

"The joints are coming apart," he said. (Mine too.)

☆ ☆ ☆

Stay loose. Keep tranquil. That is the advice the magazines give to the ladies who read them under the dryer.

"If dinner is unavoidably late, try to have a light snack to tide him over. Cheddar cheese crumbled on crackers can be toasted in a jiffy . . ."

This, says the magazine, calms the raging beast until the chops are done.

But—"The plumber still has the water turned off," she said. "We'll have to go out for lunch."

Interest On State Funds Topped $4 Million In '68

State Treasurer Wayne Swanson reported Thursday that interest earnings totaled $4,008,338 on invested idle funds during the 1968 calendar year.

Invested funds totaled $105.4 million as of Dec. 31, he said. The earned interest is credited to the state's general fund for appropriation by the Legislature.

Swanson said earnings were $1.5 million higher for the calendar year than for the fiscal year ending June 30, and attributed the increase to higher interest rates during the past six months.

Idle fund investments totaled $92 million on June 30.

Swanson said major categories of invested idle funds included general fund, $25.5 million; cash funds, $17.2 million; state building fund, $15.5 million, and distributive funds, $36 million.

The investment pattern, as authorized by law, included U.S. Treasury bills, $74 million; Federal Land Banks, $11.5 million; federal intermediate credit banks, $12.5 million; Farm Credit Administration cooperative banks, $2.6 million; Treasury bonds, $4 million, and Treasury notes, $0.7 million.

Pollution Aspects To Be Discussed

A special symposium on environmental contamination will be held at the University of Nebraska Center in Lincoln on Feb. 1 under auspices of the Nebraska Chapter of Sigma Xi, national honorary science society.

The symposium, which is open to members of the society and other interested persons, will deal with all aspects of pollution involving air, soil and water, according to Dr. Harold J. Ball, president of the Nebraska chapter.

Guest speakers at the local, state and national level will discuss various facets of environmental health and pollution problems.

Hearing Slated On School Report

The State Board of Education Thursday set its public hearing on the Great Plains School District Organization Report for 1 p.m., Feb. 6, at the National Guard Armory in Lincoln.

The board had decided at its meeting last week to hold a public hearing on the controversial report.

Dr. Allen P. Burkhardt, board president, said the hearing procedures would follow those of legislative committees with time divided equally between proponents and opponents.
